VOL. 2.--NO. 252. CITY OF KINGSTON, (RONDOUT,) N. Y., TUESDAY, AUGUST 12, 1873. WHOLE NO. 562.

Canning Fruits, Fig Culture and Raisin-Making in California.

A correspondent of the New York Tribune says "Any person who has the right kind of grapes can make raisins; and raisin-making, which eighteen months ago had still a very uncertain future in this State, may now safely be called one of the established and most promising industries here. Last year I ate excellent raisins in Los Angeles, and tolerable ones in Visalia; but they sell very commonly in the shops what they call "dried grapes," which are not raisins at all, but damp, sticky, disagreeable things, not good even in puddings. This year, however, I have seen in several places good native raisins; and the head of the largest fruit importing house in San Francisco told me, the other day, that one raisin maker last fall sold the whole of his crop there at $2 per box of 25 pounds, Malagas of the same quality bringing at the same time but $2.37½. There is a market for all well-made raisins that can be produced in the State, he said, and they are preferred to the foreign product. At Folsom, Mr. Bugby told me he had made, last year, 1,700 boxes of raisins, and that he was satisfied with the pecuniary return; and I judge from the testimony of different persons that at seven cents per pound raisins will pay the farmer very well. The Malaga and the White Muscat are the grapes which appear here to make the best raisins. Nobody has yet tried the Seedless Sultana, which, however, bears well here, and would make, I should think, an excellent cooking raisin.

For making raisins, they wait until the grape is fully ripe, and then carefully cut off the bunches and lay them either on a hard clay floor, or on brown paper laid between the vine rows. They do not trim out poor grapes from the bunches, because, as they assert, there are none; but I suspect this will have to be done for the very finest raisins, such as would tempt a reluctant buyer. The bunches require from 15 to 20 days of exposure in the sun to be cured. During that time they are gently turned from time to time, and such as are earliest cured are removed to a raisin-house. This is fitted with shelves, on which the raisins are laid about a foot thick, and here they are allowed to sweat a little. If they sweat too much the sugar candies on the outside, and this deteriorates the quality of the raisin. It is an object to keep the bloom on the berries. They are kept in the raisin-house, I believe, five or six weeks, when they are dry enough to box. It is as yet customary to put them in 25-pound boxes, but no doubt, as more experience is gained, farmers will contrive other parcels. Chinese do all the work in raisin-making, and are paid $1 a day, they supplying themselves with food.—There is no rain during the raisin-making season, and consequently the whole out-door work may be done safely as well as cheaply.

Enormous quantities of fruit are now put up in tin cans in this State; and you will be surprised, perhaps—as I was the other day—to hear of an orchard of peach and apricot trees, which bears this year its first full crop, and for 100 acres of which the owners have received $10,000 cash, gold, selling the fruit on the trees, without risk of ripening or trouble of picking. Yet peaches and apricots are not the most profitable fruits in this State, for the cherries—the most delicious cherries in the world grow here—are worth even more; and I suspect that the few farmers who have orchards of plums, and carefully dry the fruit, make as much money as the cherry-owners. There has sprung up a lively demand for California dried plums. They bring from 20 to 32 cents per pound at wholesale in San Francisco, and even as high as 50 cents for the best quality; and I am told that last season a considerable quantity was shipped eastward, and sold at a handsome profit in New York. The plum bears heavily and constantly, north of Sacramento, and does not suffer from the curculio; and the dried fruit is delicious and wholesome. Some day the farmers who are now experimenting with figs will, I do not doubt, produce also a marketable dried fig. The tree flourishes in almost all parts of the State. Usually it bears two and often three crops a year; and it grows into a noble and stately tree. So far, the preparation of dried figs has not been successful here. In the fruit stores you see abundance of figs, but they are generally brown or black in color, and not tempting to the sight, tho' palatable enough. I am told that when Smyrna figs sell for 20 to 30 cents per pound, California figs bring but from 5 to 10 cents. The tree comes into full bearing, where its location is favorable, in its third or fourth year; and ought to yield then about 60 pounds of dried figs, I am told. I suspect the cost of labor will control the drying of figs, for they must be picked by hand. If they fall to the ground they are easily bruised, and the bruised part turns sour. They are dried in the shade, and on straw, which lets the air get to every part. Irrigation is not good after the tree bears, as the figs do not dry so readily. Birds and ants are fond of the fruit; and in one place I was told the birds took almost the whole of the first crop. There are no large plantations of this tree in the State, but it is found on almost every farm and country place, and is a very wholesome fruit when eaten green.

When the farmers of the Sacramento Valley become tired of sowing wheat, and when the land comes into the hands of small farmers, as it is now doing to some extent, it will be discovered that fruit trees are surer and more profitable than grain. This Spring I hear a considerable emigration is coming into California; and I advise every one who goes there to farm, to lose no time before planting an orchard. Trees grow very rapidly, and it will be many years before such fruits as the cherry, plum, apricot, or the raisin-grape are too abundant to yield to their owners exceptionally large profit.

The Soiling Question.

We note the following evidence of the value of the summer stall-feeding of stock: Mr. Harry Sedgwick, of Cornwall, Ct., tells us of a young man in his neighborhood who bought eighty acres of land for eleven thousand dollars. This land had previously kept eleven cows, four or five yearlings, and one or two horses. The first year he sowed fourteen acres of corn fodder, and increased his stock to twenty-five cows. He kept them during the soiling season on the product of twelve acres of this crop, and his receipts the first year were three thousand dollars cash. The next year, by the use of the same system, he kept twenty-seven cows, which made an average of a hundred dollars each, though using only a comparitively small part of the products of the farm.

J. R. B., in the Practical Farmer, gives an account of what he produced from two and a half acres of land put in first-class order, and used for soiling and root-growing. The land was used from August 1st, 1871, to the end of the season of 1872. The corn fodder, green rye (for autumn use), and white mustard, furnished food for twenty-five cows for two months, and for thirty-five cows and two oxen for one month. In addition to this, he raised 840 bushels of round turnips, the same quantity of beets, and 250 bushels of rutabagas.

It is not necessary for us to say that such farming as this must inevitably pay, and that the more we have of it the better will be the average standard of our agriculture.

American Cyclopædia.

Complete in 16 Volumes.

This important work presents a panoramic view of all human knowledge, as it exists at the present moment. It embraces and popularizes every subject that can be thought of, and contains an inexhaustible fund of accurate and practical information. No topic, in brief, is omitted, upon which information can be desired. The work is a library in itself; it is a complete universal instructor, and opens to the student and general reader the whole field of knowledge.

It should be owned by every intelligent family in the country.

"I thank you for the opportunity of expressing my opinion of the great value of the 'New American' and 'Annual Cyclopædia.' I own the work and have it with me here, and am in the habit of consulting it every day to my very great advantage. It is most admirable. J. L. MOTLEY,
"U. S. Minister to the Court of St. James."

"Philadelphia, Nov. 1, 1869.

I consider the New American Cyclopaedia, published by D. Appleton & Co., vastly superior for the American reader to any other Cyclopaedia now before the public. REV. BISHOP SIMPSON."

"Boston, Oct. 25, 1869.

I own Appletons' Cyclopaedia, and use it constantly. It should be in every library, public and private—I would say in every house, within reach of every family. The young should use it.
CHARLES SUMNER."

"I use the 'New American Cyclopaedia' every day, generally many times a day. I think it the best work of the kind in existence. It is singularly well suited to families. The children who grow up in a house where there is a copy of it within reach, can hardly escape becoming well-informed persons. I value it very highly, and am glad of this opportunity of testifying my gratitude.
JAMES PARTON."

"Tribune Office, N. Y. City, Oct. 30, 1869.

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE—

The Prospect Hill Farm.

The subscriber being desirous of retiring from active life as a cultivator of the soil, would offer for sale his farm on which he now resides, situated in the City of Kingston, about ten minutes' walk from the Post Office, containing forty five acres of choice land. This place is beautifully situated, presenting the finest view of the mountains and surrounding country in the city. On this farm there are a large number of sites for buildings, commanding magnificent views that cover a large scope of the surrounding country. This property, lying as it does in close proximity to the central part of the city, must necessarily soon be in strong demand for the erection of private residences. There can be found no better site for a Hotel to accommodate summer boarders than on this property. Title indisputable. Terms accommodating.

Canning Fruits, Fig Culture and Raisin-Making in California.

A correspondent of the New York Tribune says "Any person who has the right kind of grapes can make raisins; and raisin-making, which eighteen months ago had still a very uncertain future in this State, may now safely be called one of the established and most promising industries here. Last year I ate excellent raisins in Los Angeles, and tolerable ones in Visalia; but they sell very commonly in the shops what they call "dried grapes," which are not raisins at all, but damp, sticky, disagreeable things, not good even in puddings. This year, however, I have seen in several places good native raisins; and the head of the largest fruit importing house in San Francisco told me, the other day, that one raisin maker last fall sold the whole of his crop there at $2 per box of 25 pounds, Malagas of the same quality bringing at the same time but $2.37½. There is a market for all well-made raisins that can be produced in the State, he said, and they are preferred to the foreign product. At Folsom, Mr. Bugby told me he had made, last year, 1,700 boxes of raisins, and that he was satisfied with the pecuniary return; and I judge from the testimony of different persons that at seven cents per pound raisins will pay the farmer very well. The Malaga and the White Muscat are the grapes which appear here to make the best raisins. Nobody has yet tried the Seedless Sultana, which, however, bears well here, and would make, I should think, an excellent cooking raisin.

For making raisins, they wait until the grape is fully ripe, and then carefully cut off the bunches and lay them either on a hard clay floor, or on brown paper laid between the vine rows. They do not trim out poor grapes from the bunches, because, as they assert, there are none; but I suspect this will have to be done for the very finest raisins, such as would tempt a reluctant buyer. The bunches require from 15 to 20 days of exposure in the sun to be cured. During that time they are gently turned from time to time, and such as are earliest cured are removed to a raisin-house. This is fitted with shelves, on which the raisins are laid about a foot thick, and here they are allowed to sweat a little. If they sweat too much the sugar candies on the outside, and this deteriorates the quality of the raisin. It is an object to keep the bloom on the berries. They are kept in the raisin-house, I believe, five or six weeks, when they are dry enough to box. It is as yet customary to put them in 25-pound boxes, but no doubt, as more experience is gained, farmers will contrive other parcels. Chinese do all the work in raisin-making, and are paid $1 a day, they supplying themselves with food.—There is no rain during the raisin-making season, and consequently the whole out-door work may be done safely as well as cheaply.

Enormous quantities of fruit are now put up in tin cans in this State; and you will be surprised, perhaps—as I was the other day—to hear of an orchard of peach and apricot trees, which bears this year its first full crop, and for 100 acres of which the owners have received $10,000 cash, gold, selling the fruit on the trees, without risk of ripening or trouble of picking. Yet peaches and apricots are not the most profitable fruits in this State, for the cherries—the most delicious cherries in the world grow here—are worth even more; and I suspect that the few farmers who have orchards of plums, and carefully dry the fruit, make as much money as the cherry-owners. There has sprung up a lively demand for California dried plums. They bring from 20 to 32 cents per pound at wholesale in San Francisco, and even as high as 30 cents for the best quality; and I am told that last season a considerable quantity was shipped eastward, and sold at a handsome profit in New York. The plum bears heavily and constantly, north of Sacramento, and does not suffer from the curculio; and the dried fruit is delicious and wholesome. Some day the farmers who are now experimenting with figs will, I do not doubt, produce also a marketable dried fig. The tree flourishes in almost all parts of the State. Usually it bears two and often three crops a year; and it grows into a noble and stately tree. So far, the preparation of dried figs has not been successful here. In the fruit stores you see abundance of figs, but they are generally brown or black in color, and not tempting to the sight, tho' palatable enough. I am told that when Smyrna figs sell for 20 to 30 cents per pound, California figs bring but from 5 to 10 cents. The tree comes into full bearing, where its location is favorable, in its third or fourth year; and ought to yield then about 60 pounds of dried figs, I am told. I suspect the cost of labor will control the drying of figs, for they must be picked by hand. If they fall to the ground they are easily bruised, and the bruised part turns sour. They are dried in the shade, and on straw, which lets the air get to every part. Irrigation is not good after the tree bears, as the figs do not dry so readily. Birds and ants are fond of the fruit; and in one place I was told the birds took almost the whole of the first crop. There are no large plantations of this tree in the State, but it is found on almost every farm and country place, and is a very wholesome fruit when eaten green.

When the farmers of the Sacramento Valley become tired of sowing wheat, and when the land comes into the hands of small farmers, as it is now doing to some extent, it will be discovered that fruit trees are surer and more profitable than grain. This Spring I hear a considerable emigration is coming into California; and I advise every one who goes there to farm, to lose no time before planting an orchard. Trees grow very rapidly, and it will be many years before such fruits as the cherry, plum, apricot, or the raisin-grape are too abundant to yield to their owners exceptionally large profit.

The Soiling Question.

We note the following evidence of the value of the summer stall-feeding of stock: Mr. Harry Sedgwick, of Cornwall, Ct., tells us of a young man in his neighborhood who bought eighty acres of land for eleven thousand dollars. This land had previously kept eleven cows, four or five yearlings, and one or two horses. The first year he sowed fourteen acres of corn fodder, and increased his stock to twenty-five cows. He kept them during the soiling season on the product of twelve acres of this crop, and his receipts the first year were three thousand dollars cash. The next year, by the use of the same system, he kept twenty-seven cows, which made an average of a hundred dollars each, though using only a comparitively small part of the products of the farm.

J. R. B., in the Practical Farmer, gives an account of what he produced from two and a half acres of land put in first-class order, and used for soiling and root-growing. The land was used from August 1st, 1871, to the end of the season of 1872. The corn fodder, green rye (for autumn use), and white mustard, furnished food for twenty-five cows for two months, and for thirty-five cows and two oxen for one month. In addition to this, he raised 840 bushels of round turnips, the same quantity of beets, and 250 bushels of rutabagas.

It is not necessary for us to say that such farming as this must inevitably pay, and that the more we have of it the better will be the average standard of our agriculture.

American Cyclopædia.

Complete in 16 Volumes.

This important work presents a panoramic view of all human knowledge, as it exists at the present moment. It embraces and popularizes every subject that can be thought of, and contains an inexhaustible fund of accurate and practical information. No topic, in brief, is omitted, upon which information can be desired. The work is a library in itself; it is a complete universal instructor, and opens to the student and general reader the whole field of knowledge.

It should be owned by every intelligent family in the country.

"I thank you for the opportunity of expressing my opinion of the great value of the 'NEW AMERICAN' and 'ANNUAL CYCLOPÆDIA.' I own the work and have it with me here, and am in the habit of consulting it every day to my very great advantage. It is most admirable. J. L. MOTLEY.

"U. S. Minister to the Court of St. James."

"Philadelphia, Nov. 1, 1869.

I consider the New American Cyclopaedia, published by D. Appleton & Co., vastly superior for the American reader to any other Cyclopaedia now before the public. REV. BISHOP SIMPSON."

"Boston, Oct. 25, 1869.

I own Appletons' Cyclopaedia, and use it constantly. It should be in every library, public and private—I would say in every house, within reach of every family. The young should use it.

CHARLES SUMNER."

"I use the 'New American Cyclopaedia' every day, generally many times a day. I think it the best work of the kind in existence. It is singularly well suited to families. The children who grow up in a house where there is a copy of it within reach, can hardly escape becoming well-informed persons. I value it very highly, and am glad of this opportunity of testifying my gratitude.

JAMES PARTON."

"Tribune Office, N. Y. City, Oct. 30, 1869.

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE—

The Prospect Hill Farm.

The subscriber being desirous of retiring from active life as a cultivator of the soil, would offer for sale his farm on which he now resides, situated in the City of Kingston, about ten minutes' walk from the Post Office, containing forty five acres of choice land. This place is beautifully situated, presenting the finest view of the mountains and surrounding country in the city. On this farm there are a large number of sites for buildings, commanding magnificent views that cover a large scope of the surrounding country. This property, lying as it does in close proximity to the central part of the city, must necessarily soon be in strong demand for the erection of private residences. There can be found no better site for a Hotel to accommodate summer boarders than on this property. Title indisputable. Terms accommodating.

The Daily Freeman.

Kingston, Tuesday Morning, August 12.

The New York Evening Post, whose careful opinions are usually entitled to much credit, has a comprehensive summary on the result of the season's crops throughout every section of the land. The result reached is on the whole satisfactory, with the single exception of small fruits. The information is the more gratifying by reason of depressed times, and an apprehension at one time felt that prolonged drouths might likely cause very short crops. Now let western railways be generous to the farmer, and all rejoice that we live in such a vast territory of diverse soils and climates.

Persons who really wish to experience an utter change of life, and with it the substantial physical and mental benefits derived, would do well when contemplating a summer vacation to combine in small parties, seek some quiet shaded inland lake or watercourse, and encamp upon its borders. This reversion to a state of primitive nature, well remote from the locomotive, the newspaper and other appliances of civilizations; with the appetite sharpened for the cookery of a camp fire; with sound refreshing sleep, a clear head and an easy conscience; compare watering resort frivolities and accompanying headaches with the picture drawn!

That sound and well quoted journal, the Nation, in discoursing upon the question of the day and season, an annual vacation, favors a period of one month out of the twelve, and during summer, for almost every one engaged in populous places. It asserts that the old rule of "better to wear out than to rust out" applies with far less force than it did twenty-five years ago. American work is now so driving in nature, and so much greater nervous energy is used, that without a month's annual vacation at least, the "wear outs" will exceed the "rust outs."

The Heathen Chinee.

From the most reliable advices we get from California we judge there is no room for doubt that the Chinese in that state are horribly abused. Now the Chinese immigrants make the best and neatest of servants and in this country, where good servants have never been obtainable before, it would seem as though our own interests might prompt us to treat them decently. Besides their labor, owing partly to their economical habits of living, is at least one hundred per cent. less expensive than any other kind. They are also harmless and inoffensive, keeping mostly within themselves, and never becoming mixed with any affray save to resent an overt insult or a direct attack. The industries of California depend more upon Chinese cheap labor than upon any other one thing, and the expulsion of these humble sons of toil to their native land would cripple the business of that state to such an extent that years would pass before they would recover from the blow. We want these people in the United States and it surely follows that if they are paralyzed by our ill-treatment we had better stop blowing about at least two things; first, our undeveloped resources, and, second, our character as a missionary and Christian nation.

Wanted, a Naturalist.

The following item has been going the rounds of the papers for more than a year. It is time that it be stopped:

INSTINCT OF ANIMALS.—The President of Rutger's College, New Jersey, Dr. Campbell, recently discovered that some Baltimore orioles had decapitated a quantity of carpenter bees. The slain bees were all males, and without stings. On examination it was found that not only were these bees selected for this purpose, but that the head having been removed at the neck, the body was sucked dry of the honey contained within it through the opening thus made. These birds were thus not only acquainted with the habits of the insects but of their peculiar anatomy, and used their knowledge in an unvarying manner to gratify their taste for sweets.

Rutger's College evidently has a wise president, some smart Baltimore orioles and a few unfortunate bees. If the above President had studied the facts a little more carefully he would have ascertained that orioles take their bees whole if at all; that male bees never have any honey aboard, for being drones they are not in the honey business; that the female bees or workers at a certain period destroy the male bees, who are without stings, by biting off their wings, dragging them out of the hive and leaving them to perish. Orioles and kingbirds sometimes catch and eat the male bees and no others, but they never go through with any such dissecting process as the Reverend Doctor discovered "to gratify their love for sweets," especially with the drone bee.

Foreign Correspondence.

The mass of foreign correspondence that appears this year, in country journals in particular, is fairly appalling. Some of it reads passably well; more of it smacks strongly of European guide books, with some little interpolation. It is becoming refreshing to find occasional correspondents from the Old World imitating Bayard Taylor's original style of describing social matters and conclusions, instead of old ruin, musty cathedrals, music, paintings, etc. The editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, in writing from abroad to his paper, has good sense enough to avoid the usual beaten track. As an instance Mr. Watterson thus writes:

I believe that there runs beneath the fabric of England a stealthy, unseen current, which is rotting away the foundations of everything. The Established Church in England has gone. The suffrage has been enlarged. After a little the House of Lords will tumble. Then the gradual rise of the lower orders. Then a disastrous foreign war. Then the opportunity and the revolution. In 1858, Lord Macauley wrote a letter to his friend, William C. Rives, of Virginia, in which he sketched with accuracy all that subsequently happened in America. A broad grin spread itself across the Union from Maine to Texas. Three years later the historian's predictions came true. I merely say that it is clear to me that the glory of England is departing, that the seeds of her ruin are already sprouting up above her soil, and that perhaps before her two centuries of domestic peace expire, she will find herself on the threshold of an overwhelming civil combustion.

A Warm Time to Talk it Over.

Mr. Lamison of Ohio, on being invited by a convention of his party to cover his back pay into the Treasury, replied with considerable emphasis, "I'll see you in h—ll first." No suggestion could have been more to the point.—Superficial people will doubtless look upon this exclamation of Lamison's as intended by him to be profane. Profounder men will not so regard these earnest words. They are not profane but prophetic. Before Mr. Lamison shall have had time enough to settle upon the proper course to pursue in this matter he will probably be a denizen of the place to which he alludes so forcibly. It is not altogether unreasonable to suppose he may meet a majority of the Ohio convention there. Under those circumstances, with eternity at their disposal, and with an incredible amount of discomfort to be mitigated by intelligent conversation, why should they not all put their heads together and talk the thing over? To be sure, in the event of Lamison's concluding to do the square thing, and, as Webster said about the Wheeling Bridge contractors, "disgorge," there may be some little practical difficulty in sending up the money; yet it's pleasant to reflect that his remorseful pangs may be somewhat lightened by a post-mortem spasm of honesty. In case Ames should be on hand and be able to produce that little diary of his, the looking over old accounts will be vastly entertaining. Satan, himself, may be, will leave his more pressing duties as a lobby member in Congress to lean across the shoulders of the group and exhibit his approbation by his own peculiar grin. Anyhow Lamison, like Sir Walter Scott's wizard, knows that "coming events cast their shadows before."

What the Left Hand Knows.

The pictorial edition of the daily World at once gratifies our liking for the fine arts and our desire for information by giving us an illustrated account of the Presbyterian Hospital just completed in New York. We have but one feeling, of course, about the building of such edifices as this. Whatever tends either to prevent human suffering or to alleviate it when it occurs, cannot but challenge the respect of all men. Science and skill cannot do too much or charity be too liberal in this direction. Perhaps no other single attribute of the civilization of to-day indicates its genuine advancement in those respects which are most worthy and endearing than the setting apart of wealth for uses of this kind. James Lenox, by contributing the sum of $250,000 towards the erection of this hospital, has only added one more to the many substantial reasons why the future will embalm his name. One thing besides, and the deed had been perfect. He should have opposed the adoption of a denominational title. Inasmuch as the institution is not intended to succor and treat those only who bear the Presbyterian name and hold their special faith, but is to be open to the "general public," why baptize it with nomenclature of a sect? If it be answered that the Presbyterians are to be its owners and managers, we say, very good indeed. They could have been all that without advertising the fact. We do not mean to be captious. Our purpose in these remarks is merely to suggest that we think it a tremendous letting of the left hand know what the right has done. Other denominations do the same? We know they do. Vanity in benevolence is both ingrained and contagious.

Always Been a Liar.

In our younger days we doted on Cooper's novels; those in particular that presented such thrilling and appreciative accounts of the noble red man. In those fascinating tales he was pictured to our imagination as a model of manliness. Unspoiled by the vitiating influences of civilization, he roamed the trackless woods in maiden meditation, fancy free. If he seemed to lack the Christian quality of forgiveness toward his enemies he at least never forgot or betrayed his friends. His physical form and powers were simply perfect. Muscles elastic and tough as the finest steel and senses rendered acute by his constant habit of depending upon them for safety and subsistence, the ideal American Indian would have furnished the sculptor or the anatomist with what Joe Gargery would have called a "fine figure" of a savage. But Cooper is dead and with him Chingachook and Uncas. The soft moccasin of the virtuous Delawares leaves no more its dim imprint on their native hills, while the gleam of their evening camp-fires has faded forever from among the trees. The modern savage is the very antithesis of his ancestors. He loves whisky and is unfaithful to confidence reposed in his veracity. This last-named characteristic is appalling when considered in the light of his blood and education. Captain Jack, the eminent Modoc, and indeed the most prominent representative of his illustrious race, is squarely accused of lying. When we state that this charge proceeds from a correspondent of the New York Times, its gravity is immensely enhanced. Not only is the warrior of the lava beds accused of lying but it is boldly asserted that he "has always been a liar." This allegation tests our belief to its utmost. How can this be when he has had such opportunities? To be sure Captain Jack has never been a Sunday School scholar, but the advantages he has enjoyed since manhood should be regarded as more than a compensation for this early neglect. For instance, the Quaker Commissioners went West to teach him a moderate style in speech; the government traders went out to show him how to be honest; General Sheridan went out to rebuke his profanity, and the Secretary of the Interior exclaimed in the tones of manifold proclamations, "Thou shall not lie."

And to think that he is a chronic liar after all. Astonishing!

CURRENT TOPICS.

—An alliterative New Jersey correspondent of a New York daily heads his effusion: "Malarious Marshes, Baneful Brooks and Tuneful Taverns."

—Sunday rowdyism at and en route to and from Coney Island by New York roughs forms usual themes for the Monday metropolitan dailies.

—Both George Francis Train and "Lord" Gordon remain quiet—Mrs. Dr. Mary Walker ditto—for which fact nervous people in hot weather are duly thankful.

—The steamer Great Eastern is proving a world's benefactor in its successful cable trips. The last version about the vessel is that the Atlantic cable, laid in 1865, has been recovered where broken and spliced.

—Chinamen are again being personally attacked and otherwise persecuted in California and Oregon. This cowardly, uncalled-for business should be sternly and promptly repressed by the constituted authorities. No more caste nonsense and outrages in this country.

—The New York World, in an article on the evils of drunkenness, favors, as a means of gradual eradication and cure, the use of pure wine, cider and light beer at meals; with a sufficient time at the table not to clog and hasten the proper digestion of the food eaten.

—The Tribune claims that "the American people are the most inveterate and unreasonable hand-shakers in the world," and then briefly comments on a case that once happened in New Hampshire, where some chap lost the use of his hand for manual labor for eleven years by an extra vice-like grip from a reputed friend.

—What a shame it is that a nation like the United States should be represented at foreign courts in so many instances by the Sickles and Schenck stamp of mediocre talent and scheming personal duplicity! Such representatives as Bancroft, John Jay and the average sensible Washburne hardly compensate for the positions given to so many mere politicians and political tools.

—Dr. John C. Peters, who was sent by the New York Board of Health to the southwest as an expert, to study the irruption of cholera in that quarter, has been heard from. The Doctor has published an interesting review of cholera epidemics since the year 1756, tracing its source from India and following its transfusion elsewhere. He claims that about once in twelve years the disease springs forth in virulence and ready for its westward march. Thus reasoning he predicts that after the great Juggernaut festival of 1877 an epidemic of Asiatic cholera may be expected—to be guarded against by systematic, rigid quarantine at North American harbors, and that failing, thorough sanitary preparation.

—What a great marrying family, surely, is Queen Victoria's! The Duke of Edinburgh duly mated and nuptials fixed, Prince Alfred's name is alternately used and denied in reference to an engagement with Princess Thyra of Denmark. The Queen's last child, her daughter Beatrice of "sweet sixteen," it seems is the sole member of England's royal family unspoken for, until the Freeman's Journal alleges that Victoria has picked out an English nobleman for her, the Marquis of Stafford—wishing one daughter at least near home. English tax-payers, in the frequent marriage portions voted, must see more than one side to the reputed advantages of having a large family.

CANADA.

The Toronto Post Office Robbed.

TORONTO, Ont., August 11.—The Toronto post office was entered by robbers yesterday and ninety-one registered letters stolen from the safe. The matter is being thoroughly investigated by the authorities.

NEBRASKA.

An Albanian Suicides at Omaha.

OMAHA, August 11.—Dr. L. Van Trosen, late of Albany, N. Y., committed suicide to-day by cutting his throat.

MICHIGAN.

A Horrible Poisoning Case.

DETROIT, August 11.—A horrible case of murder by poisoning occurred in Owosso, Michigan, yesterday, the victim being Mrs. Wartemberg. Her son-in-law, Charles Moore, was arrested and has confessed to having given her arsenic. Desire to possess her property was the probable motive.

KENTUCKY.

The Newly Elected Legislature.

LOUISVILLE, August 11.—The recently elected General Assembly of Kentucky will be composed as follows: Senate—32 Democrats and 6 Republicans; House of Representatives—81 Democrats and 19 Republicans. The Republicans gain 2 in the Senate and the Democrats 1 in the House.

NEW YORK.

Knights Templar Encampment at Auburn

AUBURN, N. Y., August 11.—The Grand Encampment of Knights Templar will commence in this city to-morrow and continue three days. It is anticipated that one thousand members will be present.

MINNESOTA.

Extensive Fire at Minneapolis.

MINNEAPOLIS, August 11.—A fire in the lumber yard of W. T. Judd in this city yesterday destroyed about two million feet of lumber and several frame buildings. The total loss is from $60,000 to $75,000. The lumber was insured for about $20,000.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Boston News.

BOSTON, August 11.—The creditors of James A. Coe, at the second meeting to-day, made choice of Messrs. Frank Shaw, Joseph Darr and James Deshon for assignees. The claims proved and allowed amount to $287,127, including one of Mrs. Lucy D. Fisk, wife of the late James Fisk, for $250, for rent of a stable on Wooster street.

Vice-President Wilson was in Boston to-day. His improved appearance indicated steady progress toward restored health, which has been brought about by his cessation of all active labor.

UTAH.

A Legal Question Decided—The Great Divorce Suit.

SALT LAKE CITY, August 11.—On Saturday last Mr. Snow, Territorial Attorney General, moved before Judge Emerson for an order of the Court for a grand jury for the September term. Judge Emerson asked United States Attorney Cury if he wished to have a grand jury. The latter replied that as a territorial court had already intimated that no jury could be legally impannelled under the existing laws he did not wish to go through the farce of criminal examination or trial to have it set aside immediately hereafter. The Court then held that as the territorial legislature had taken the subject from the Court and given it to the Clerk he had nothing to do with it.

The argument on the question of jurisdiction of the court in the Webb-Young divorce case has been completed. The Court reserved its decision.

THE INDIAN TERRITORY.

Ross and Jones in Danger—Anarchy Increasing.

PARSONS, Ks., August 11.—A dispatch received from the Indian country to-day says that the Downing-Ross party have beaten the reformers, but Bell has obtained letters written by Ross and Jones to Washington showing treachery to the principles of the party. The full bloods are said to be indignant and aroused and that Ross and Jones must go to the brush to save their lives. It is also asserted that the death sentence has been passed by certain Indians upon Col. Boudinot, James Bell and others of the progressive and reform party. There is no question but anarchy and crime are largely on the increase and many of the best men in that locality begin to believe their only safety lies in a strong central territorial form of government under protection of the United States.

MISSOURI.

A Man Beaten to Death in St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, August 11.—Last night, while Michael Tadazowitz was walking quietly down Main street, he was seized by a man and held while another man beat him on the ribs and sides with large stones, one of which he held in each hand. When Tadazowitz finally released himself from his assailants he fell, the blood streaming from his nose, mouth and ears. He died in two hours. Michael Dooley and Michael Flinney have been arrested charged with the murder. They are men of bad repute and had been engaged in several disturbances during the day.

WIDOWS' AND ORPHANS' HOME BURNED.

KANSAS CITY, August 11.—The Widows' and Orphans' Home, near this city, was burned today. Some furniture was saved, but everything else, including clothing, was lost. Assistance is urgently needed.

THE CORN CROP.

Apprehensions are felt of the entire failure of the corn crop throughout this section for want of rain.

THE PORTLAND FIRE.

More Bodies Recovered.

PORTLAND, Me., August 11.—The body of Percy O'Neill, fireman on the Dirigo, who belonged in Brooklyn, has been recovered. He was not known to have been drowned until his body was found. The body of a stevedore named William Mattison was also recovered.

ANOTHER PERSON MISSING.

PORTLAND, Me., August 11.—The watchman on the steamer Dirigo, named Hobbs, and a resident of Cape Elizabeth, is missing and supposed to have been burned to death while sleeping between decks. The Steam Packet Company will build a temporary shed on the Atlantic wharf. The Maine Steamship Company will go to Brown's wharf temporarily.—The Franconia will leave for New York on Thursday and the Chespeake on Monday. The Company will contract at once for a new steamer. The Carlotta was towed up to-day. Engineers say her hull, engine and boilers are not materially damaged, and that $30,000 will rebuild her. It is thought 10,000 bushels of corn may be saved from the elevator.

THE CHOLERA.

One Fatal Case at Columbus.

COLUMBUS, O., August 11.—One fatal case of cholera occurred here to-day. The victim died after eight hours' illness and was buried after 9 o'clock to-night.

METROPOLITAN NEWS.

The Baltic Lloyd Steamer Safe.

NEW YORK, August 11.—The agents of the Baltic Lloyd line of steamships have received a cable despatch stating that on the 23d of July their overdue steamer Arnold was signalled in lat. 46 deg. 10 min., long 45 deg. 3 min. by the ship King Oscar, with her propeller broken, under canvas, steering north with strong southeast wind. She did not request assistance. Again on the 24th she was seen by the White Star line steamer Oceanic, steering the same course and in lat. 46, 10, long. 43, 37. The agents expect a full list of the cabin passengers by the first Havre mail.

ATTEMPTED MURDER AND SUICIDE.

In the cigar manufactory of Steinbart Bros. & Schonlank, 56 Vesey street, this morning, Ephraim Steinhart, brother of one of the proprietors, standing behind Samuel Schonlank, shot him under the ear with a revolver and then swallowed the contents of a bottle of poison and shot himself through the left breast. Schonlank will probably live, but the would-be murderer and suicide will die. Cause not ascertained.

LATER—Schonlank is in a fair way of recovery, but Steinbart still continues very low. There is no apparent reason in the relations of the two men for either murder or suicide.—One man cannot and the other will not tell anything about it beyond the bare statement that there are family matters in the case.

A GRAVE CONTROVERSY.

A motion was made before Judge Neilson of Brooklyn to-day to enjoin the trustees of Evergreen Cemetery from exercising any further control over the grounds and that a receiver be appointed to take custody of the property. Lot owners make affidavits that the grounds have been desecrated by the cutting down of shade trees on private burial plots and that cows, horses and cattle have been allowed to roam at large over the premises. Damage alleged to have been done is estimated at $250,000. The trustees deny the whole charge. Judge Neilson reserved his decision.

EXCISE MATTERS.

The Tribune says the Excise Commissioners have completed their examination of applications for licenses for liquor dealers in the first, second and third wards. No licenses have been issued to keepers of groceries or proprietors of saloons where women are employed as waiteresses. Under no circumstances will licenses be granted to proprietors of concert saloons.

MELANCHOLY ACCIDENT.

A Stage Upsets, Killing Two Persons and Fatally Injuring Others.

BETHLEHEM, N. Y., August 11.—Six horses attached to the morning stage between Crawford and Profile Houses ran away to-day, upsetting the coach on Whitcomb's Hill in this town, instantly killing S. R. Donell Kirl of Baltimore and fatally injuring A. S. Butler, a banker from Alleghany, Michigan, who has since died. The following were also injured: Mr. and Miss Reeves of Phœnixville, Pa., probably fatally; Chancey G. Harrington, Worcester, Mass., seriously; Austin S. Fox and Miss Fox, No. 45 West 33d street, New York, seriously; S. S. Fox, slightly; Miss Emma Kennedy, of Indianapolis, slightly; Mr. Culbert, son and daughter, Ironton, Ohio, slightly; Mrs. LaCroix, Ironton, Ohio, arm broken and slightly injured on head; two or three others were slightly injured. It is believed that all of the injured persons, with the exception possibly of Mr. and Miss Reeves, will recover. The accident was caused by the breaking of a pole strap.

THE POTOMAC DISASTER.

Sixty-Seven Lives Lost by the Catastrophe.

WASHINGTON, August 11.—The Supervising Inspector of Steamboats for this district has arrived here, and will by order of the Secretary of the Treasury commence on Wednesday a full investigation into the recent disaster on the Potomac. A thorough count of the number of dead bodies already recovered puts the list at 67. The names of nearly all who have been identified have already been published.

STATEMENTS OF PASSENGERS.

WASHINGTON, August 11.—The Star's correspondent, writing from Chatterton's Landing, the scene of the Wawasset disaster, says boatmen living on the line of the river say the screams of the women and children could be heard for miles. All the boats available were at once brought into service and every effort made to extend relief. The gentlemen in charge of the interment of corpses, a large number of whom were negroes, found difficulty in getting colored men lounging around the scene of the wreck to assist in the burial of their own color, owing to the superstition that ill-luck would attend them if they touched the corpses. The statement of Miss Kate McPherson, one of the saved and a very intelligent lady, is given. She states that she was in company with Miss Marbury of the Treasury Department and kept with her during the first part of the excitement until the smoke drove them down the gangway. That she missed her on the main deck and the rush of colored people was so great toward the life boat that she could not turn to find her. She was hustled overboard after the life boat was stove in, with many others, by the rush of the colored people towards the gangway. That she immediately sunk and rose twice and knew nothing more until she found herself in a boat and being carried ashore. She described the scene on the burning boat as most terrible to witness. The flames burst out all around and swept aft, driving the women and children over into the water. She saw four little children hanging on by their hands to the burning steamer and one after the other drop into the water, the flames driving them off. The colored people were perfectly wild and no remonstrance on the part of the officers was heeded. They jumped into the boat, piling it full, and declared that it was the colored people's boat, refusing all whites admission. When it went down all were dumped into the water together and many others followed, being pushed overboard. The flames burnt into the main deck, setting fire to the clothing of the women and children, who were hoping for some relief, but none could pass the gangway for the flames, and the screams of the women and children were deafening.

Hiram Smith, a colored man states, that he was present and witnessed the loss of the life boat. As soon as she was lowered to the main deck the colored men took possession of her by force and no threats or persuasions of the officers could prevent them. The boat was heaped full of baggage and men and he saw a yellow man cut the bow rope, when she fell down with such force as to tear out the stern, because of the davit holding at that end, and all in her sunk.

ALBANY MARKET.

ALBANY, August 11.

FLOUR AND MEAL—Receipts of Flour by rail during the past 48 hours 638 bbls. Some of the Western mills have "shut down," to which the falling off in the receipts is attributable. The day supply by rail is still sufficent to meet the current demand, for rightly speaking the market rules dull. The Eastern demand has within the past ten days fallen off materially, while the local trade has been moderate. The stocks here are ample and sufficient to meet any emergency. Rye Flour is dull at $5@25 Corn Meal is steady at $1.30 for coarse and $1.40 for fine.

GRAIN—Samples of the new crop are daily becoming more plentiful, and the hour spent on 'Change this morning was mainly occupied by members in examining and discussing the relative qualities of those exhibited from various sections of the country.

For Wheat the market rules steady with light receipts and a moderate milling inquiry.

Rye dull and nominal at 75 for new and 80 for old. Corn in good supply and rather quiet but steady in value. We quote Western Mixed at 56@58c. in small lots.

Barley steady, with a moderate demand. Sales one car No. 2 Canada to a local malster on p. t.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

—James Otis has received the tax-payers' nomination for Mayor of San Franscisco.

—The New York City Post-office has ordered its fourth million of postal cards.

—Thomas Woodson, nephew of Governor Woodson, of Missouri, killed William Barlow in a corn-field near Percival Station, Ia., Saturday.

—A grand ball to be given some time in August by members of the diplomatic corps at Newport is agitating the beau monde of that place.

—Ex-President Johnson, it is reported, is preparing to run for Governor of Tennessee as a stepping-stone to a seat in the United States Senate.

—A movement in Ohio to repeal the clause of the State constitution exempting church property from taxation meets with almost universal approval.

—A rumor is current at Teheran that the death of the Shah's mother was due to some extent to the grief she experienced at the departure of her son.

—In a recent examination for positions in the Treasury, twenty-three of the twenty-four women who were successful candidates were school teachers, and nearly all residents of Washington.

—On Sunday in New York, Louis Rick, a butcher, of 453 West Forty-second street, cut his throat with a razor, and Ellen Bemis, aged twenty-five, accidentally shot herself at 193 West street.

—A Washington special says, that in a letter recently received in that city, Gov. Noyes of Ohio expresses confidence of his re-election, but states that the control of the Legislature is in a good deal of doubt.

Comptroller Shroeder of Brooklyn refuses to accept the increase of his salary from $3,000 to $10,000 a year, and on Saturday a warrant for $250 was substituted for one for $830, the former being the monthly salary of the Comptroller previous to the passage of the charter.

—A great want of hands is experienced in Alsace now the harvest has set in, owing to the absence of the Lorraine laborers, who used to come over previous to the war specially for harvest work. They refuse to come now that Alsace has become German.

—The Cincinnati Enquirer remarks: "Governor Noyes only got at his last election 238,000 votes, 2,000 less than Thurman received in 1867, six years previously. Noyes cannot get as many votes now as he did then. The Thurman vote brought out for Allen in 1873 will be sufficient to elect. Mark the prediction!"

—Col. John Stackpole, aged about 60 years, was found dead in the cellar of his residence in Dover, N. H., on Saturday, probably the result of an attack of apoplexy. He was for many years Chief of Police of Dover, Colonel of the New Hampshire militia, and has been prominently connected with political affairs.

—Gov. Dix has vetoed the bill to provide for the location of a new State prison, and for the removal of the present prison at Sing Sing, on the ground that the State is now erecting a new Capitol, also hospital and reformatories, and that it is unjust to engage in another new work at this time, when the people are overburdened by taxation.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

—The cholera has entirely disappeared from Vienna.

—The Brooklyn Trust Company has reopened for business.

—Fulton Market is now nearly free from the old and exterior line of offences.

—They are experimenting with female horse car conductors in Savannah.

—Mrs. Van Cott recently preached five sermons in one day at Janesville, Wis.

—Five women have applied for seats in the Graphic balloon.

—Assemblyman John C. Jacobs is reported seriously ill in Brooklyn.

—Reports from Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Northern Iowa gives flattering accounts of the crop prospects.

—Dull business continues everywhere but at Saratoga, Long Branch, and a few favored spots.

—Old Prob. is an artful dodger. He predicts "local rains" from day to day, but don't say where. Anybody could do that.

—An Auburn lady has just recovered $1,500 damages from that city for injuries sustained from an imperfect cross-walk.

—The Paris Figaro thinks that "Eli Perkins" knows more about humor and uses less of it in his epistles than any other American writer.

—Mr. J. M. Bailey's book of humor, "Life in Danbury," is having a very large sale. The twenty-second thousand is now announced by Shepard & Gill.

VICINITY.

—Catskill wants a mile track.

—Hortonville will have a paper mill.

—Monticello is busily engaged in repairing her sidewalks.

—The Odd Fellows' pic-nic at Cochecton was attended by 3,000 people.

—From Utica we learn that Senator Conkling was serenaded last week.

—Hon. Francis Kernan will reach home on his return from Europe Sept. 25th.

—It is affirmed that all the river tow boats are doing a heavy business.

A Margaretville young lady "objects to hugging, but doesn't dislike its effects."

—The fall term of the Middletown Female Seminary commences September 15th.

—Troy complains of filthy streets, and Albany is for that matter no better off.

—Binghamton means to have a park and a fire alarm telegraph.

—A Delhi paper says that several cases of spinal meningitis have made their appearance in that vicinity recently.

—Erastus Corning of Albany, now traveling in Europe, is said to possess a modest competence of $8,000,000.

—Thurlow Weed is resting quietly at Catskill. He dare not go into the mountains, for the air there is too strong for him.

—The Poughkeepsie bridge borers began work last Saturday—the white flags are now marking the shore ends of the work.

—The Peekskill Messenger says: "We understand that the Peekskill Plow Works are to be removed to Newark, N. J., about October next."

—The Albany Catholic Reflector complains that convicts born to that faith, immured in the penitentiary there located are denied the services of priests unless at death's door.

—The coal traffic over the Erie for the past month has been unusually large and there were not dumps enough to supply the demands of cartage.

—Mr. Townsend, of Highland Mills, has a large number of men at work preparing to rebuild the mill that was burned on the night of July 3d.

—Wm. Wright & Co., of Newburgh, are building the engines to be used in the new building of the New York Staats Zeitung.

—On Sunday the residence of Mr. Aaron Vail, at Stamford, was entered by a burglar or burglars, and three hundred dollars in money stolen.

—The Troy Whig opposes the incorporation of the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute with the institutions composing the Union University.

—The annual parade of the Newburgh Fire Department takes place on the 1st of October. Fire companes from Paterson, N. J., and Brookline, Mass., will participate.

—The Newburgh Board of Excise has already commenced revoking the licenses of those who sell liquor on Sunday in violation of the law. Our Board of Excise could do much good in that direction.

—A fire at Athens, Friday morning, destroyed a barn and several outbuildings, with contents, consisting of hay, grain, etc., belonging to the Central Railroad Company. Two or three horses were burned. Amount of loss not known.

—A young man named Belton was hit by a stone near Eastman Park, Poughkeepsie, Sunday evening and quite badly hurt. It was thrown at him by a woman he was trying to approach. A severe lesson, but a good one.

—The Troy Press, after giving a list of a number of business failures in that vicinity, adds that it is well-known that the money market at present is very close. If a man has a number of outstanding debts, he finds it almost impossible to collect a dollar. We find the same state of affairs reported in existence all over the country. The names we have published are but a faint shadow of the coming smash-up. All business men expect it, and all are very careful about their dealings. It is said that the banks will not loan any money, unless they are doubly secured.

GENERAL NEWS.

—The heading in a Boston paper, "Anti-Grant Meeting in London," startled its readers until they discovered it related to the grant to the Duke of Edinburgh.

—The Evening Post says that Senator Conkling has not drawn his back pay, but has left it with the disbursing officer of the Senate, where it can be drawn at any time.

—Some of the Indiana Democrats, including, it is said, Gov. Hendricks, are not satisfied with the Indianapolis Sentinel, and have determined to start a new daily in that city.

—We read that Joaquin Miller, when living with the Modocs, was called "Nowofadam," and that this means "The Moon Gazer," although it sounds like "notworthadam."

—A certain Flora Flimsey bathed at Narragansett recently in a suit of blue silk, trimmed profusely with white lace. She was sane when she left home.

—Kate Field says that the nasal twang is by no means peculiar to America. Many Londoners have it, and it prevails to an alarming extent in certain counties in England.

—The Cincinnati Enquirer says that William Allen, the Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio, was born in the Valley of Virginia in 1807. Consequently he is now 66 years old.

—"Refined homes," says the New York Nation, "are the end of civilization. All the work of the world—the railroading, the navigating, digging, manufacturing, inventing, teaching, writing, fighting are done, first of all, to secure each family in the possession of its own hearth; and secondly, to surround as many hearths as possible with grace and culture and beauty. The work of all races for five thousand years is represented in the difference between a wigwam and a lady's parlor. It has no better result to show."

—Innocent wives at Saratoga are anxious to make the acquaintance of "Old Tom." They say their husbands are informed that "Old Tom" wants to see them, and they go away and presently return with their breath laden with peppermint. They would hardly believe you if you were to tell them that "Old Tom's" last name is Gin.

—Longevity is the strong point of the Marble family of Worthington, Mass. Silas Marble is eighty-eight, his wife eighty-one, and they have twelve children, all living, the eldest sixty-three, the youngest forty. Of these children seven are daughters, married, and their husbands are hearty men, with a prospect of the eighties.

The Daily Freeman.

Kingston, Tuesday Morning, August 12.

The New York Evening Post, whose careful opinions are usually entitled to much credit, has a comprehensive summary on the result of the season's crops throughout every section of the land. The result reached is on the whole satisfactory, with the single exception of small fruits. The information is the more gratifying by reason of depressed times, and an apprehension at one time felt that prolonged drouths might likely cause very short crops. Now let western railways be generous to the farmer, and all rejoice that we live in such a vast territory of diverse soils and climates.

Persons who really wish to experience an utter change of life, and with it the substantial physical and mental benefits derived, would do well when contemplating a summer vacation to combine in small parties, seek some quiet shaded inland lake or watercourse, and encamp upon its borders. This reversion to a state of primitive nature, well remote from the locomotive, the newspaper and other appliances of civilizations; with the appetite sharpened for the cookery of a camp fire; with sound refreshing sleep, a clear head and an easy conscience; compare watering resort frivolities and accompanying headaches with the picture drawn!

That sound and well quoted journal, the Nation, in discoursing upon the question of the day and season, an annual vacation, favors a period of one month out of the twelve, and during summer, for almost every one engaged in populous places. It asserts that the old rule of "better to wear out than to rust out" applies with far less force than it did twenty-five years ago. American work is now so driving in nature, and so much greater nervous energy is used, that without a month's annual vacation at least, the "wear outs" will exceed the "rust outs."

The Heathen Chinee.

From the most reliable advices we get from California we judge there is no room for doubt that the Chinese in that state are horribly abused. Now the Chinese immigrants make the best and neatest of servants and in this country, where good servants have never been obtainable before, it would seem as though our own interests might prompt us to treat them decently. Besides their labor, owing partly to their economical habits of living, is at least one hundred per cent. less expensive than any other kind. They are also harmless and inoffensive, keeping mostly within themselves, and never becoming mixed with any affray save to resent an overt insult or a direct attack. The industries of California depend more upon Chinese cheap labor than upon any other one thing, and the expulsion of these humble sons of toil to their native land would cripple the business of that state to such an extent that years would pass before they would recover from the blow. We want these people in the United States and it surely follows that if they are paralyzed by our ill-treatment we had better stop blowing about at least two things; first, our undeveloped resources, and, second, our character as a missionary and Christian nation.

Wanted, a Naturalist.

The following item has been going the rounds of the papers for more than a year. It is time that it be stopped:

INSTINCT OF ANIMALS.—The President of Rutger's College, New Jersey, Dr. Campbell, recently discovered that some Baltimore orioles had decapitated a quantity of carpenter bees. The slain bees were all males, and without stings. On examination it was found that not only were these bees selected for this purpose, but that the head having been removed at the neck, the body was sucked dry of the honey contained within it through the opening thus made. These birds were thus not only acquainted with the habits of the insects but of their peculiar anatomy, and used their knowledge in an unvarying manner to gratify their taste for sweets.

Rutger's College evidently has a wise president, some smart Baltimore orioles and a few unfortunate bees. If the above President had studied the facts a little more carefully he would have ascertained that orioles take their bees whole if at all; that male bees never have any honey aboard, for being drones they are not in the honey business; that the female bees or workers at a certain period destroy the male bees, who are without stings, by biting off their wings, dragging them out of the hive and leaving them to perish. Orioles and kingbirds sometimes catch and eat the male bees and no others, but they never go through with any such dissecting process as the Reverend Doctor discovered "to gratify their love for sweets," especially with the drone bee.

Foreign Correspondence.

The mass of foreign correspondence that appears this year, in country journals in particular, is fairly appalling. Some of it reads passably well; more of it smacks strongly of European guide books, with some little interpolation. It is becoming refreshing to find occasional correspondents from the Old World imitating Bayard Taylor's original style of describing social matters and conclusions, instead of old ruin, musty cathedrals, music, paintings, etc. The editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, in writing from abroad to his paper, has good sense enough to avoid the usual beaten track. As an instance Mr. Watterson thus writes:

I believe that there ruins beneath the fabric of England a stealthy, unseen current, which is rotting away the foundations of everything. The Established Church in England has gone. The suffrage has been enlarged. After a little the House of Lords will tumble. Then the gradual rise of the lower orders. Then a disastrous foreign war. Then the opportunity and the revolution. In 1858, Lord Macauley wrote a letter to his friend, William C. Rives, of Virginia, in which he sketched with accuracy all that subsequently happened in America. A broad grin spread itself across the Union from Maine to Texas. Three years later the historian's predictions came true. I merely say that it is clear to me that the glory of England is departing, that the seeds of her ruin are already sprouting up above her soil, and that perhaps before her two centuries of domestic peace expire, she will find herself on the threshold of an overwhelming civil combustion.

A Warm Time to Talk it Over.

Mr. Lamison of Ohio, on being invited by a convention of his party to cover his back pay into the Treasury, replied with considerable emphasis, "I'll see you in h—ll first." No suggestion could have been more to the point.—Superficial people will doubtless look upon this exclamation of Lamison's as intended by him to be profane. Profounder men will not so regard these earnest words. They are not profane but prophetic. Before Mr. Lamison shall have had time enough to settle upon the proper course to pursue in this matter he will probably be a denizen of the place to which he alludes so forcibly. It is not altogether unreasonable to suppose he may meet a majority of the Ohio convention there. Under those circumstances, with eternity at their disposal, and with an incredible amount of discomfort to be mitigated by intelligent conversation, why should they not all put their heads together and talk the thing over? To be sure, in the event of Lamison's concluding to do the square thing, and, as Webster said about the Wheeling Bridge contractors, "disgorge," there may be some little practical difficulty in sending up the money; yet it's pleasant to reflect that his remorseful pangs may be somewhat lightened by a post-mortem spasm of honesty. In case Ames should be on hand and be able to produce that little diary of his, the looking over old accounts will be vastly entertaining. Satan, himself, may be, will leave his more pressing duties as a lobby member in Congress to lean across the shoulders of the group and exhibit his approbation by his own peculiar grin. Anyhow Lamison, like Sir Walter Scott's wizard, knows that "coming events cast their shadows before."

What the Left Hand Knows.

The pictorial edition of the daily World at once gratifies our liking for the fine arts and our desire for information by giving us an illustrated account of the Presbyterian Hospital just completed in New York. We have but one feeling, of course, about the building of such edifices as this. Whatever tends either to prevent human suffering or to alleviate it when it occurs, cannot but challenge the respect of all men. Science and skill cannot do too much or charity be too liberal in this direction. Perhaps no other single attribute of the civilization of to-day indicates its genuine advancement in those respects which are most worthy and endearing than the setting apart of wealth for uses of this kind. James Lenox, by contributing the sum of $250,000 towards the erection of this hospital, has only added one more to the many substantial reasons why the future will embalm his name. One thing besides, and the deed had been perfect. He should have opposed the adoption of a denominational title. Inasmuch as the institution is not intended to succor and treat those only who bear the Presbyterian name and hold their special faith, but is to be open to the "general public," why baptize it with nomenclature of a sect? If it be answered that the Presbyterians are to be its owners and managers, we say, very good indeed. They could have been all that without advertising the fact. We do not mean to be captious. Our purpose in these remarks is merely to suggest that we think it a tremendous letting of the left hand know what the right has done. Other denominations do the same? We know they do. Vanity in benevolence is both ingrained and contagious.

Always Been a Liar.

In our younger days we doted on Cooper's novels; those in particular that presented such thrilling and appreciative accounts of the noble red man. In those fascinating tales he was pictured to our imagination as a model of manliness. Unspoiled by the vitiating influences of civilization, he roamed the trackless woods in maiden meditation, fancy free. If he seemed to lack the Christian quality of forgiveness toward his enemies he at least never forgot or betrayed his friends. His physical form and powers were simply perfect. Muscles elastic and tough as the finest steel and senses rendered acute by his constant habit of depending upon them for safety and subsistence, the ideal American Indian would have furnished the sculptor or the anatomist with what Joe Gargery would have called a "fine figure" of a savage. But Cooper is dead and with him Chingachook and Uncas. The soft moccasin of the virtuous Delawares leaves no more its dim imprint on their native hills, while the gleam of their evening camp-fires has faded forever from among the trees. The modern savage is the very antithesis of his ancestors. He loves whisky and is unfaithful to confidence reposed in his veracity. This last-named characteristic is appalling when considered in the light of his blood and education. Captain Jack, the eminent Modoc, and indeed the most prominent representative of his illustrious race, is squarely accused of lying. When we state that this charge proceeds from a correspondent of the New York Times, its gravity is immensely enhanced. Not only is the warrior of the lava beds accused of lying but it is boldly asserted that he "has always been a liar." This allegation tests our belief to its utmost. How can this be when he has had such opportunities? To be sure Captain Jack has never been a Sunday School scholar, but the advantages he has enjoyed since manhood should be regarded as more than a compensation for this early neglect. For instance, the Quaker Commissioners went West to teach him a moderate style in speech; the government traders went out to show him how to be honest; General Sheridan went out to rebuke his profanity, and the Secretary of the Interior exclaimed in the tones of manifold proclamations, "Thou shall not lie."

And to think that he is a chronic liar after all. Astonishing!

CURRENT TOPICS.

—An alliterative New Jersey correspondent of a New York daily heads his effusion: "Malarious Marshes, Baneful Brooks and Tuneful Taverns."

—Sunday rowdyism at and en route to and from Coney Island by New York roughs forms usual themes for the Monday metropolitan dailies.

—Both George Francis Train and "Lord" Gordon remain quiet—Mrs. Dr. Mary Walker ditto—for which fact nervous people in hot weather are duly thankful.

—The steamer Great Eastern is proving a world's benefactor in its successful cable trips. The last version about the vessel is that the Atlantic cable, laid in 1865, has been recovered where broken and spliced.

—Chinamen are again being personally attacked and otherwise persecuted in California and Oregon. This cowardly, uncalled-for business should be sternly and promptly repressed by the constituted authorities. No more caste nonsense and outrages in this country.

—The New York World, in an article on the evils of drunkenness, favors, as a means of gradual eradication and cure, the use of pure wine, cider and light beer at meals; with a sufficient time at the table not to clog and hasten the proper digestion of the food eaten.

—The Tribune claims that "the American people are the most inveterate and unreasonable hand-shakers in the world," and then briefly comments on a case that once happened in New Hampshire, where some chap lost the use of his hand for manual labor for eleven years by an extra vice-like grip from a reputed friend.

—What a shame it is that a nation like the United States should be represented at foreign courts in so many instances by the Sickles and Schenck stamp of mediocre talent and scheming personal duplicity! Such representatives as Bancroft, John Jay and the average sensible Washburne hardly compensate for the positions given to so many mere politicians and political tools.

—Dr. John C. Peters, who was sent by the New York Board of Health to the southwest as an expert, to study the irruption of cholera in that quarter, has been heard from. The Doctor has published an interesting review of cholera epidemics since the year 1756, tracing its source from India and following its transfusion elsewhere. He claims that about once in twelve years the disease springs forth in virulence and ready for its westward march. Thus reasoning he predicts that after the great Juggernaut festival of 1877 an epidemic of Asiatic cholera may be expected—to be guarded against by systematic, rigid quarantine at North American harbors, and that failing, thorough sanitary preparation.

—What a great marrying family, surely, is Queen Victoria's! The Duke of Edinburgh duly mated and nuptials fixed, Prince Alfred's name is alternately used and denied in reference to an engagement with Princess Thyra of Denmark. The Queen's last child, her daughter Beatrice of "sweet sixteen," it seems is the sole member of England's royal family unspoken for, until the Freeman's Journal alleges that Victoria has picked out an English nobleman for her, the Marquis of Stafford—wishing one daughter at least near home. English tax-payers, in the frequent marriage portions voted, must see more than one side to the reputed advantages of having a large family.

Extensive Fire at Minneapolis.

MINNEAPOLIS, August 11.—A fire in the lumber yard of W. T. Judd in this city yesterday destroyed about two million feet of lumber and several frame buildings. The total loss is from $60,000 to $75,000. The lumber was insured for about $20,000.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Boston News.

BOSTON, August 11.—The creditors of James A. Coe, at the second meeting to-day, made choice of Messrs. Frank Shaw, Joseph Darr and James Deshon for assignees. The claims proved and allowed amount to $287,127, including one of Mrs. Lucy D. Fisk, wife of the late James Fisk, for $250, for rent of a stable on Wooster street.

Vice-President Wilson was in Boston to-day. His improved appearance indicated steady progress toward restored health, which has been brought about by his cessation of all active labor.

UTAH.

A Legal Question Decided--The Great Divorce Suit.

SALT LAKE CITY, August 11.—On Saturday last Mr. Snow, Territorial Attorney General, moved before Judge Emerson for an order of the Court for a grand jury for the September term. Judge Emerson asked United States Attorney Cury if he wished to have a grand jury. The latter replied that as a territorial court had already intimated that no jury could be legally impannelled under the existing laws he did not wish to go through the farce of criminal examination or trial to have it set aside immediately hereafter. The Court then held that as the territorial legislature had taken the subject from the Court and given it to the Clerk he had nothing to do with it.

The argument on the question of jurisdiction of the court in the Webb-Young divorce case has been completed. The Court reserved its decision.

THE INDIAN TERRITORY.

Ross and Jones in Danger—Anarchy Increasing.

PARSONS, Ks., August 11.—A dispatch received from the Indian country to-day says that the Downing-Ross party have beaten the reformers, but Bell has obtained letters written by Ross and Jones to Washington showing treachery to the principles of the party. The full bloods are said to be indignant and aroused and that Ross and Jones must go to the brush to save their lives. It is also asserted that the death sentence has been passed by certain Indians upon Col. Boudinot, James Bell and others of the progressive and reform party. There is no question but anarchy and crime are largely on the increase and many of the best men in that locality begin to believe their only safety lies in a strong central territorial form of government under protection of the United States.

MISSOURI.

A Man Beaten to Death in St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, August 11.—Last night, while Michael Tadazowitz was walking quietly down Main street, he was seized by a man and held while another man beat him on the ribs and sides with large stones, one of which he held in each hand. When Tadazowitz finally released himself from his assailants he fell, the blood streaming from his nose, mouth and ears. He died in two hours. Michael Dooley and Michael Flinney have been arrested charged with the murder. They are men of bad repute and had been engaged in several disturbances during the day.

WIDOWS' AND ORPHANS' HOME BURNED.

KANSAS CITY, August 11.—The Widows' and Orphans' Home, near this city, was burned to-day. Some furniture was saved, but everything else, including clothing, was lost. Assistance is urgently needed.

THE CORN CROP.

Apprehensions are felt of the entire failure of the corn crop throughout this section for want of rain.

THE PORTLAND FIRE.

More Bodies Recovered.

PORTLAND, Me., August 11.—The body of Percy O'Neill, fireman on the Dirigo, who belonged in Brooklyn, has been recovered. He was not known to have been drowned until his body was found. The body of a stevedore named William Mattison was also recovered.

ANOTHER PERSON MISSING.

PORTLAND, Me., August 11.—The watchman on the steamer Dirigo, named Hobbs, and a resident of Cape Elizabeth, is missing and supposed to have been burned to death while sleeping between decks. The Steam Packet Company will build a temporary shed on the Atlantic wharf. The Maine Steamship Company will go to Brown's wharf temporarily.—The Franconia will leave for New York on Thursday and the Chespeake on Monday. The Company will contract at once for a new steamer. The Carlotta was towed up to-day. Engineers say her hull, engine and boilers are not materially damaged, and that $30,000 will rebuild her. It is thought 10,000 bushels of corn may be saved from the elevator.

THE CHOLERA.

One Fatal Case at Columbus.

COLUMBUS, O., August 11.—One fatal case of cholera occurred here to-day. The victim died after eight hours' illness and was buried after 9 o'clock to-night.

METROPOLITAN NEWS.

The Baltic Lloyd Steamer Safe.

NEW YORK, August 11.—The agents of the Baltic Lloyd line of steamships have received a cable despatch stating that on the 23d of July their overdue steamer Arnold was signalled in lat. 46 deg. 10 min., long 45 deg. 3 min. by the ship King Oscar, with her propeller broken, under canvas, steering north with strong southeast wind. She did not request assistance. Again on the 24th she was seen by the White Star line steamer Oceanic, steering the same course and in lat. 46, 10, long. 43, 37. The agents expect a full list of the cabin passengers by the first Havre mail.

ATTEMPTED MURDER AND SUICIDE.

In the cigar manufactory of Steinbart Bros. & Schonlank, 56 Vesey street, this morning, Ephraim Steinhart, brother of one of the proprietors, standing behind Samuel Schonlank, shot him under the ear with a revolver and then swallowed the contents of a bottle of poison and shot himself through the left breast. Schonlank will probably live, but the would-be murderer and suicide will die. Cause not ascertained.

LATER—Schonlank is in a fair way of recovery, but Steinhart still continues very low. There is no apparent reason in the relations of the two men for either murder or suicide.—One man cannot and the other will not tell anything about it beyond the bare statement that there are family matters in the case.

A GRAVE CONTROVERSY.

A motion was made before Judge Neilson of Brooklyn to-day to enjoin the trustees of Evergreen Cemetery from exercising any further control over the grounds and that a receiver be appointed to take custody of the property. Lot owners make affidavits that the grounds have been desecrated by the cutting down of shade trees on private burial plots and that cows, horses and cattle have been allowed to roam at large over the premises. Damage alleged to have been done is estimated at $250,000. The trustees deny the whole charge. Judge Neilson reserved his decision.

EXCISE MATTERS.

The Tribune says the Excise Commissioners have completed their examination of applications for licenses for liquor dealers in the first, second and third wards. No licenses have been issued to keepers of groceries or proprietors of saloons where women are employed as waiteresses. Under no circumstances will licenses be granted to proprietors of concert saloons.

MELANCHOLY ACCIDENT.

A Stage Upsets, Killing Two Persons and Fatally Injuring Others.

BETHLEHEM, N. Y., August 11.—Six horses attached to the morning stage between Crawford and Profile Houses ran away to-day, upsetting the coach on Whitcomb's Hill in this town, instantly killing S. R. Donell Kirl of Baltimore and fatally injuring A. S. Butler, a banker from Alleghany, Michigan, who has since died. The following were also injured: Mr. and Miss Reeves of Phœnixville, Pa., probably fatally; Chancey G. Harrington, Worcester, Mass., seriously; Austin S. Fox and Miss Fox, No. 45 West 33d street, New York, seriously; S. S. Fox, slightly; Miss Emma Kennedy, of Indianapolis, slightly; Mr. Culbert, son and daughter, Ironton, Ohio, slightly; Mrs. LaCroix, Ironton, Ohio, arm broken and slightly injured on head; two or three others were slightly injured. It is believed that all of the injured persons, with the exception possibly of Mr. and Miss Reeves, will recover. The accident was caused by the breaking of a pole strap.

THE POTOMAC DISASTER.

Sixty-Seven Lives Lost by the Catastrophe.

WASHINGTON, August 11.—The Supervising Inspector of Steamboats for this district has arrived here, and will by order of the Secretary of the Treasury commence on Wednesday a full investigation into the recent disaster on the Potomac. A thorough count of the number of dead bodies already recovered puts the list at 67. The names of nearly all who have been identified have already been published.

STATEMENTS OF PASSENGERS.

WASHINGTON, August 11.—The Star's correspondent, writing from Chatterton's Landing, the scene of the Wawasset disaster, says boatmen living on the line of the river say the screams of the women and children could be heard for miles. All the boats available were at once brought into service and every effort made to extend relief. The gentlemen in charge of the interment of corpses, a large number of whom were negroes, found difficulty in getting colored men lounging around the scene of the wreck to assist in the burial of their own color, owing to the superstition that ill-luck would attend them if they touched the corpses. The statement of Miss Kate McPherson, one of the saved and a very intelligent lady, is given. She states that she was in company with Miss Marbury of the Treasury Department and kept with her during the first part of the excitement until the smoke drove them down the gangway. That she missed her on the main deck and the rush of colored people was so great toward the life boat that she could not turn to find her. She was hustled overboard after the life boat was stove in, with many others, by the rush of the colored people towards the gangway. That she immediately sunk and rose twice and knew nothing more until she found herself in a boat and being carried ashore. She described the scene on the burning boat as most terrible to witness. The flames burst out all around and swept aft, driving the women and children over into the water. She saw four little children hanging on by their hands to the burning steamer and one after the other drop into the water, the flames driving them off. The colored people were perfectly wild and no remonstrance on the part of the officers was heeded. They jumped into the boat, piling it full, and declared that it was the colored people's boat, refusing all whites admission. When it went down all were dumped into the water together and many others followed, being pushed overboard. The flames burnt into the main deck, setting fire to the clothing of the women and children, who were hoping for some relief, but none could pass the gangway for the flames, and the screams of the women and children were deafening.

Hiram Smith, a colored man states, that he was present and witnessed the loss of the life boat. As soon as she was lowered to the main deck the colored men took possession of her by force and no threats or persuasions of the officers could prevent them. The boat was heaped full of baggage and men and he saw a yellow man cut the bow rope, when she fell down with such force as to tear out the stern, because of the davit holding at that end, and all in her sunk.

THE WEATHER.

To-Day's Probabilities.

For the Middle States falling barometer, southeasterly and easterly winds, warmer and cloudy weather, with occasional light local rains.

ALBANY MARKET.

ALBANY, August 11.

FLOUR AND MEAL—Receipts of Flour by rail during the past 48 hours 638 bbls. Some of the Western mills have "shut down," to which the falling off in the receipts is attributable. The day supply by rail is still sufficent to meet the current demand, for rightly speaking the market rules dull. The Eastern demand has within the past ten days fallen off materially, while the local trade has been moderate. The stocks here are ample and sufficient to meet any emergency. Rye Flour is dull at $5@25. Corn Meal is steady at $1.30 for coarse and $1.40 for fine.

GRAIN—Samples of the new crop are daily becoming more plentiful, and the hour spent on 'Change this morning was mainly occupied by members in examining and discussing the relative qualities of those exhibited from various sections of the country.

For Wheat the market rules steady with light receipts and a moderate milling inquiry.

Rye dull and nominal at 75 for new and 80 for old. Corn in good supply and rather quiet but steady in value. We quote Western Mixed at 56@58c. in small lots.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

—James Otis has received the tax-payers' nomination for Mayor of San Francisco.

—The New York City Post-office has ordered its fourth million of postal cards.

—Thomas Woodson, nephew of Governor Woodson, of Missouri, killed William Barlow in a corn-field near Percival Station, Ia., Saturday.

—A grand ball to be given some time in August by members of the diplomatic corps at Newport is agitating the beau monde of that place.

—Ex-President Johnson, it is reported, is preparing to run for Governor of Tennessee as a stepping-stone to a seat in the United States Senate.

—A movement in Ohio to repeal the clause of the State constitution exempting church property from taxation meets with almost universal approval.

—A rumor is current at Teheran that the death of the Shah's mother was due to some extent to the grief she experienced at the departure of her son.

—In a recent examination for positions in the Treasury, twenty-three of the twenty-four women who were successful candidates were school teachers, and nearly all residents of Washington.

—On Sunday in New York, Louis Rick, a butcher, of 453 West Forty-second street, cut his throat with a razor, and Ellen Bemis, aged twenty-five, accidentally shot herself at 193 West street.

—A Washington special says, that in a letter recently received in that city, Gov. Noyes of Ohio expresses confidence of his re-election, but states that the control of the Legislature is in a good deal of doubt.

Comptroller Shroeder of Brooklyn refuses to accept the increase of his salary from $3,000 to $10,000 a year, and on Saturday a warrant for $250 was substituted for one for $830, the former being the monthly salary of the Comptroller previous to the passage of the charter.

—A great want of hands is experienced in Alsace now the harvest has set in, owing to the absence of the Lorraine laborers, who used to come over previous to the war specially for harvest work. They refuse to come now that Alsace has become German.

—The Cincinnati Enquirer remarks: "Governor Noyes only got at his last election 238,000 votes, 2,000 less than Thurman received in 1867, six years previously. Noyes cannot get as many votes now as he did then. The Thurman vote brought out for Allen in 1873 will be sufficient to elect. Mark the prediction!"

—Col. John Stackpole, aged about 60 years, was found dead in the cellar of his residence in Dover, N. H., on Saturday, probably the result of an attack of apoplexy. He was for many years Chief of Police of Dover, Colonel of the New Hampshire militia, and has been prominently connected with political affairs.

—Gov. Dix has vetoed the bill to provide for the location of a new State prison, and for the removal of the present prison at Sing Sing, on the ground that the State is now erecting a new Capitol, also hospital and reformatories, and that it is unjust to engage in another new work at this time, when the people are overburdened by taxation.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

—The cholera has entirely disappeared from Vienna.

—The Brooklyn Trust Company has reopened for business.

—Fulton Market is now nearly free from the old and exterior line of offences.

—They are experimenting with female horse car conductors in Savannah.

—Mrs. Van Cott recently preached five sermons in one day at Janesville, Wis.

—Five women have applied for seats in the Graphic balloon.

—Assemblyman John C. Jacobs is reported seriously ill in Brooklyn.

—Reports from Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Northern Iowa gives flattering accounts of the crop prospects.

—Dull business continues everywhere but at Saratoga, Long Branch, and a few favored spots.

—Old Prob. is an artful dodger. He predicts "local rains" from day to day, but don't say where. Anybody could do that.

—An Auburn lady has just recovered $1,500 damages from that city for injuries sustained from an imperfect cross-walk.

—The Paris Figaro thinks that "Eli Perkins" knows more about humor and uses less of it in his epistles than any other American writer.

—Mr. J. M. Bailey's book of humor, "Life in Danbury," is having a very large sale. The twenty-second thousand is now announced by Shepard & Gill.

VICINITY.

—Catskill wants a mile track.

—Hortonville will have a paper mill.

—Monticello is busily engaged in repairing her sidewalks.

—The Odd Fellows' pic-nic at Cochecton was attended by 3,000 people.

—From Utica we learn that Senator Conkling was serenaded last week.

—Hon. Francis Kernan will reach home on his return from Europe Sept. 25th.

—It is affirmed that all the river tow boats are doing a heavy business.

A Margaretville young lady "objects to hugging, but doesn't dislike its effects."

—The fall term of the Middletown Female Seminary commences September 15th.

—Troy complains of filthy streets, and Albany is for that matter no better off.

—Binghamton means to have a park and a fire alarm telegraph.

—A Delhi paper says that several cases of spinal meningitis have made their appearance in that vicinity recently.

—Erastus Corning of Albany, now traveling in Europe, is said to possess a modest competence of $8,000,000.

—Thurlow Weed is resting quietly at Catskill. He dare not go into the mountains, for the air there is too strong for him.

—The Poughkeepsie bridge borers began work last Saturday—the white flags are now marking the shore ends of the work.

—The Peekskill Messenger says: "We understand that the Peekskill Plow Works are to be removed to Newark, N. J., about October next."

—The Albany Catholic Reflector complains that convicts born to that faith, immured in the penitentiary there located are denied the services of priests unless at death's door.

—The coal traffic over the Erie for the past month has been unusually large and there were not dumps enough to supply the demands of cartage.

—Mr. Townsend, of Highland Mills, has a large number of men at work preparing to rebuild the mill that was burned on the night of July 3d.

—Wm. Wright & Co., of Newburgh, are building the engines to be used in the new building of the New York Staats Zeitung.

—On Sunday the residence of Mr. Aaron Vail, at Stamford, was entered by a burglar or burglars, and three hundred dollars in money stolen.

—The Troy Whig opposes the incorporation of the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute with the institutions composing the Union University.

—The annual parade of the Newburgh Fire Department takes place on the 1st of October. Fire companies from Paterson, N. J., and Brookline, Mass., will participate.

—The Newburgh Board of Excise has already commenced revoking the licenses of those who sell liquor on Sunday in violation of the law. Our Board of Excise could do much good in that direction.

—A fire at Athens, Friday morning, destroyed a barn and several outbuildings, with contents, consisting of hay, grain, etc., belonging to the Central Railroad Company. Two or three horses were burned. Amount of loss not known.

—A young man named Belton was hit by a stone near Eastman Park, Poughkeepsie, Sunday evening and quite badly hurt. It was thrown at him by a woman he was trying to approach. A severe lesson, but a good one.

—The Troy Press, after giving a list of a number of business failures in that vicinity, adds that it is well-known that the money market at present is very close. If a man has a number of outstanding debts, he finds it almost impossible to collect a dollar. We find the same state of affairs reported in existence all over the country. The names we have published are but a faint shadow of the coming smash-up. All business men expect it, and all are very careful about their dealings. It is said that the banks will not loan any money, unless they are doubly secured.

GENERAL NEWS.

—The heading in a Boston paper, "Anti-Grant Meeting in London," startled its readers until they discovered it related to the grant to the Duke of Edinburgh.

—The Evening Post says that Senator Conkling has not drawn his back pay, but has left it with the disbursing officer of the Senate, where it can be drawn at any time.

—Some of the Indiana Democrats, including, it is said, Gov. Hendricks, are not satisfied with the Indianapolis Sentinel, and have determined to start a new daily in that city.

—We read that Joaquin Miller, when living with the Modocs, was called "Nowofadam," and that this means "The Moon Gazer," although it sounds like "notworthadam."

—A certain Flora Flimsey bathed at Narragansett recently in a suit of blue silk, trimmed profusely with white lace. She was sane when she left home.

—Kate Field says that the nasal twang is by no means peculiar to America. Many Londoners have it, and it prevails to an alarming extent in certain counties in England.

—The Cincinnati Enquirer says that William Allen, the Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio, was born in the Valley of Virginia in 1807. Consequently he is now 66 years old.

—"Refined homes," says the New York Nation, "are the end of civilization. All the work of the world—the railroading, the navigating, digging, manufacturing, inventing, teaching, writing, fighting are done, first of all, to secure each family in the possession of its own hearth; and secondly, to surround as many hearths as possible with grace and culture and beauty. The work of all races for five thousand years is represented in the difference between a wigwam and a lady's parlor. It has no better result to show."

—Innocent wives at Saratoga are anxious to make the acquaintance of "Old Tom." They say their husbands are informed that "Old Tom" wants to see them, and they go away and presently return with their breath laden with peppermint. They would hardly believe you if you were to tell them that "Old Tom's" last name is Gin.

—Longevity is the strong point of the Marble family of Worthington, Mass. Silas Marble is eighty-eight, his wife eighty-one, and they have twelve children, all living, the eldest sixty-three, the youngest forty. Of these children seven are daughters, married, and their husbands are hearty men, with a prospect of the eighties.

CITY NOTES.

—The water sprinkler is again necessary in every street to allay the spoiled-furniture-fever of housekeepers.

—The screw steamer Eagle from Saugerties came in the creek yesterday for repairs at McEntee & Dillon's foundry.

—Quite a large colony from this city are disporting themselves "by the sad sea waves" at Long Branch, and the cry is still they go.

—The members of the Croquet Club were pleasantly entertained by Miss Minnie Ludlum at Wiltwyck on Monday afternoon.

—A one-legged man, who came over on the Lark from Rhinecliff on Monday forenoon, wanted the boot-black on the boat to give his wooden leg "a shine."

—The young man who had his jaw broken last Tuesday evening by a stone thrown by Martin Noble, called at The Freeman office yesterday to say his name was Edward Soy and not Sice.

—The Wallkill Valley Railway Company are erecting a fine platform along the line of their road near Union avenue, for a long distance, for the unloading of freight and comfort of passengers.

—The people who inhabit Wall street were much astonished Sunday to see a wild-looking youth, with hat off, going down that street about as fast as a roan horse and road wagon could carry him. Every little while he would yank fiercely at the bit, but the horse sped on unmindful of his frantic efforts, until he turned off the street and began to ascend the Keykout, when the animal subsided and stopped. It seems this youth had been trying to drive the horse with a curb bit, but had neglected to put a chain under the animal's jaw. Of course the curb was worse than nothing, for it tantalized the horse, who started off for a run. In the struggle to hold the horse, the youth's plug hat fell of in the street, which gave him the before-mentioned wild look that scared the people.

Poughkeepsians Coming.

To-morrow, Wednesday, the teachers, scholars and friends of the Hoffman Street Mission Chapel Sunday School of Poughkeepsie will make an excursion to this city and pic-nic in the grove at Ponckhockie, owned by Mr. Walter B. Crane.

Another Prize Won.

The New York Sun of Monday says: "There was a match between the members of the Amateur Rifle Association on Saturday. The prize was for the Amateur Club badge. There were seventeen entries. Capt. J. Bodine, of Highland, N. Y., again won the badge.—Messrs. Stube and Wingate took the sweepstakes. Bodine's score was 26 out of a possible 28."

Personals.

"Champ," of the Stamford Mirror, was in town yesterday and wound up a day of quiet pleasure by calling on "The Owl" at about—well, never mind what—o'clock last night. He starts for home this morning, having managed to "scoop in" a deal of enjoyment during his brief visit here.

Accident to the Mary Powell.

The steamer Mary Powell again picked up a log with her paddles near Cornwall on Saturevening. It was thrust through the wheelhouse door, but was taken out at Cornwall, and after a slight delay she proceeded on up the river to her destination.—Newburgh Journal.

Death of a Former Rondouter.

Word was received on Tuesday by friends of the deceased in this city of the death of Oliver Perrine, a former resident of Rondout and well known here, but for several years living in the west. His death occurred at Indianapolis, Indiana. His remains it is expected will reach here on Wednesday, when they will be interred with Masonic honors. Members of Rondout Lodge will be duly notified.

A Fire, a Spanking and a Dog Fight.

The little son of J. Drake, who resides near Henry street, fired a bed in the house, on Monday and the result was a small conflagration. The boy was duly spanked, and the fire put out with soda water, which Mr. Drake keeps on hand for sale. The alarm of fire was sounded through the streets, and the firemen turned out quickly. Coming home, three black dogs took to fighting in Maiden Lane, which created much more of a furore than the fire. Final result: dogs were parted, and one chap's leg bitten badly.

Kingston Rambles.

Now that the summer days are growing somewhat more invigorating than of late—or cooler nights making them seem so—those of our visiting guests partial to pedestrianism have from upper Kingston two walks that can hardly fail of appreciation. The one to Keykout hill, where a magnificent mountain view greets the eye that is not outdone in these parts; the other to the Rondout section of the city via Jacob's Valley and Montrepose cemetery. The prospect from the hill tops, just beyond the latter, overhanging Rondout, combines a river and mountain view rarely if ever excelled.

Announcing Candidates.

The Freeman favors the announcement of candidates for office, after the fashion in vogue at the South and West, and opens its columns for that purpose. We heartily second the proposition. Were the practice generally adopted much good would result. Along with other advantages it would have the effect to compel office seekers to break cover and show their hands; and that would be worth a great deal, for as a rule in these days the fact that a man is plotting and hunting for office may be set down as prima facie evidence of his unfitness for it. Let candidates for the several important offices to be filled be publicly named at an early day, that the people may have an opportunity to canvass their respective merits and qualifications before the time for making formal nominations.—Ellenville Journal.

The Pot Calling the Kettle Black.

Rondout is, from the reports circulated, one of the poorest "scare crow" models to be seen anywhere. When visitors happen to stop there, they of course expected to see the same cleanliness of streets as in other river towns, but instead it resembles largely the Wild Land. —Hudson Star.

It is unfortunate that the streets through which strangers, as a general thing, pass, and from which their opinion of Rondout is formed are among the worst in the place, but in them can be found no such moral filth as that which presents its unblushing front along the street leading from the Hudson River Railroad depot to Main street in Hudson, and on Diamond and Chapel streets in the same sleepy little city. Rondout is a "poor scare crow" as compared with Hudson, which is an exceedingly good one, and if the lower portion of our city "resembles largely the Wild Land" it is a resemblance Hudson will never be accused of, unless it is the wildness of melancholy at the utter stupidity and stagnation of that ancient Hudson River city of five thousand inhabitants—city, forsooth!

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—The Old Hurley suspension bridge is again out of order. New beams and plank are being put in, and in the meantime the people must wade through the creek. A road for this purpose has been cut down each bank, and as the water is very low crossing the creek is not half the labor as climbing the bank.

—As the Sunday morning train neared the depot at West Hurley the leaders of the four horse team attached to one of the Overlook House stages became frightened and jumped off the wall in the rear of the depot. They sank in the mud up to their bodies and it required a great deal of work to get them out. Finally, by the aid of ropes, &c., they were dragged out, taken to a brook and washed, then proceeded on their journey to the Mountain House. A fence should be built along that wall, as it is quite dangerous. Should a stage loaded with passengers tip over in this marsh the folks could thereafter read Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress with some satisfaction.—The Slough of Despond bears no comparison with a West Hurley swamp hole.

—Boiceville, along the railroad, is getting up a reputation for retailing thunder and lightning whiskey that will soon surpass that of Shokan. One chap up there bought a jug of rum of a man who retails the article, drank some of it, then went home and cat-hauled his wife so she came near dying from the bruises. Another eccentric individual loaded himself with the benzine, went home and set his bed on fire. The result was the house was burned down, and all the furniture in it. The only thing of value rescued from the flames was the wife, and she has sued the rumseller for damages under the Civil Damage law. An astute attorney who resides somewhere near there, says the action won't lay because a man has the right to burn his own house if he wants to, and it's nobody's business. We are afraid that attorney hasn't read carefully the Civil Damage law. At any rate, Olive, for a town, is doing remarkably well, both as to the quality of the rum it uses and the number of Civil Damage cases that have been brought.

Coal Arrival.

Saturday 83 canal boats laden with 10,535 tons of coal reached tide water at Eddyville through the Delaware & Hudson canal. This is one of the largest arrivals of any day during the present season of navigation on the canal

Accident to a Horse.

On Monday afternoon a horse belonging to the firm of Turck & Burhans, in the lower part of the city, while drawing a load of lumber through Garden street, stumbled, or slipped, and fell, cutting one of its fore legs slightly, and injuring one of its eyes severely. One of the shafts of the wagon was broken.

Fishy.

Dr. R. Loughran, in addition to being a good physician, is also somewhat noted as a fisherman, and has a way of pulling out the scaly denizens of the water that suggests the thought that he has read up on Isaack Walton pretty thoroughly. When the Doctor goes down to the Hudson at Flatbush he always comes back with a big lot of bass; but he fishes with sturgeon spawn and is apt to get himself anointed in a manner that unfits him for making an entry in a drawing room; so he has adopted a serviceable but not gaudy uniform of rubber boots and blue jean overalls and shirt, and when the portly person of this "boy in blue" appears on the brow of the Flatbush hill the people have a way of saying, "There's goin' to be some tall fishin' to-day," —and there always is.

Runaway Accident.

While a gentleman and lady were riding down Ten Broeck avenue Saturday evening, the team became frightened at a fire that was burning in the roadway near Elmendorf street, and it was only by the utmost exertion they were prevented from running away. As it was the team plunged toward the walk, whirling the wagon with such swiftness it ran on two wheels for some distance. As they rushed by, the gentleman thought he saw some object lie in the way of the team; he did the best he could to clear it, but thought the wagon must have run over it. After having passed the fire, he managed to stop the horses and then upon looking back found the object was a small child sitting alongside the track. The wagon had passed within a hair's breadth of the little one, and the escape was almost miraculous. And now let us ask the mother of that child if she was not criminally careless in allowing a mere baby to be playing in the roadway, or even in the walk. But what shall we say of the man who will persist in building fires in the roadway and thus endangering the lives of every person who may be driving on the street? We do think he ought to be locked up for a time to give him a few months to think about the matter. Such folks are a nuisance to the community.

A Pleasure Trip.

A party of Poughkeepsians, among whom was Judge Barnard, took a ride over the Rhinebeck & Connecticut Railroad yesterday and also through the Delaware & Hudson Canal to Eddyville, on Mr. Hudson Taylor's steam yacht.—Poughkeepsie Press.

When The Freeman alluded to the Delaware & Hudson Canal Co. running excursion trains to Saratoga, which was a fact, the Press indulged in some loud guffaws at our supposed ignorance; but who, Oh! who would believe that a newspaper man could know so little about his own immediate vicinity? "Through the Delaware & Hudson Canal to Eddyville!" Why, Osborne, bless your soul, don't you know that Rondout Creek is navigable for large vessels from its mouth to Eddyville, a distance of three good miles, and an amount of shipping business is carried on in it that would astonish you Poughkeepsie greenhorns. Buy or borrow a map and find out for yourself that you can't enter the canal till you reach Eddyville. The Bessie didn't sail on the canal at all. Stick to your bridge, and let our canal alone.

Lackawanna Co.'s Target Excursion.

Lackawanna Steamer No. 1's company had a fine day for their target shooting excursion yesterday, and promptly at 10 A. M. line was formed in front of the engine house on Mill street, and the company marched from thence to Division street in the following order: Chief Engineer George Weber and First Assistant Thomas Leonard, three pioneers in bear-skin caps, fire suits and bearing battle axes, Goeller's band, twenty-seven men in fatigue uniform of Lackawanna Company, each bearing a musket at "right shoulder shift," and in the muzzle of the barrel of each "shooting iron" was a bouquet, which added not a little to the brightness of the mass of color made by the procession. The Company was under command of Captain Willett L. Hasbrouck, with John Schnitzler, John J. O'Reilley and Walter Pardee as Lieutenants, Fred. Menger and Wenzel Radle as Sergeants. F. Heybruck was was Captain of Pioneers. There was also a martial form bearing the target and bringing up the rear, of whose rank we are not certain, but from the scornful manner in which his graceful feet spurned the earth we are confident he must be a Major General in the corps d' Afrique at least. The Company made the tour of the principal streets in the lower part of the city, with band playing and colors flying, and then marched to the scene of the trial of skill in target firing.

After spending the afternoon in target firing and dancing and having a thoroughly festive time, the Company returned home in the evening, reaching their room about nine o'clock. We were unable last evening to obtain the list of winners of prizes, but will publish it to-morrow. The prizes were numerous and some of them very valuable.

Announcement of Candidates.

Our Next County Clerk.

MR. EDITOR:—As the time for nominating county officers to be supported at our next election is rapidly drawing near, I have reflected and meditated upon the merits and qualifications of the different candidates mentioned for the various offices, and after listening to quiet discussions among intelligent, sound-thinking business men, irrespective of political party, the conclusion arrived at is, that we have one man in our city who ought and should receive the nomination and election of County Clerk.

That man is a poor young man, quiet, unobtrusive and unostentatious. He has long been an active politician, and is publicly and favorably known as one having hosts of friends. His modesty exceeds his better judgment, as in this instance he can hardly be persuaded to become a candidate. He is not connected with any ring, has never been rewarded with official pap, although deserving of better treatment at the hands of his political associates long ago. His nomination would insure his election. Has he a single enemy? I personally know that nearly all the young men (who always do the hard work at the polls) would be glad to give him a vote; and it is our duty to ignore all rings and slates, and fill our public offices with men of fitness having the requisite qualifications.

Such a man we have—one known to be strictly honest (having filled several subordinate financial positions of public trust), of unswerving integrity and true fidelity, with a reputation and character without stain, spot or blemish.

I take great pleasure, Mr. Editor, in recommending to delegates from all parts of the county the name of JAMES R. FOLAND as one embodying all the virtues above spoken of, and well worthy of receiving their careful consideration for the nomination of County Clerk.

E. A. DURHAM.

Dated August 8th, 1873.

Summer Boarders.

It is astonishing to see the number of city people who are spending the summer in the country along the line of the N. Y., K. & S. R. R. Not only is Delaware county flooded, Pine Hill and Shandaken filled to overflowing, but even lower down in the town of Olive hundreds are spending their vacations. Shokan has a large number of these folks, most of whom are young ladies in moderate circumstances who come into the country to spend their short vacations climbing the mountains, wading in brooks, picking berries and drinking fresh milk. Their board bills are much less than if they remained in the city. A large party of these folks, who are rusticating in and around Shokan, having read the description of High Point in The Freeman, took a trip up there Monday, to have a good view, and at the same time fill some pails with huckleberries. It was a jolly-looking load.

A Serious Accident.

On Saturday forenoon, about 10:30 o'clock, Mrs. Dayton, of Port Ewen, with a child some seven or eight years of age and two young ladies, got in a wagon infront of their residence, when the horse attached to the vehicle started and the young man who was to drive leaped into the wagon and grabbed for the reins, but succeeded in getting hold of but one of them. The horse took so sudden a sheer the wagon was upset and the whole party thrown violently to the ground. Mrs. Dayton received a severe cut over one eye, was scratched and bruised about the face, and received some injuries about the body. The two young ladies were also scratched and bruised about the head and face, but fortunately their injuries were slight. The child was entirely uninjured, as was also the driver, who succeeded in preventing the horse from running away. Mrs. Dayton was carried into the house by some of the neighbors who witnessed the accident, and medical assistance summoned, as her hurts were supposed to be of a dangerous nature. Though painfully injured, Mrs. Dayton is by no means dangerously hurt.

A Colic-smitten Cock.

There is an immense Bramahpootra rooster that occasionally escorts his harem into and about Mill street, where they forage around, not disdaining such tid-bits as they find lying around loose, be they worn-out type or old hoop skirts. On Monday afternoon we noticed the above-mentioned cock strutting about in his usual important manner while his wives collated on whatever they could find. Finally three old hens, who had been holding a matinee over a particularly hard, green pear left off pecking it to peck one another, when the arrow glance of the cock's eye fell upon the squabble. Swelling out his breast and erecting his crest to a greater attitude than usual, Mr. Rooster sauntered over to the green pear matinee and broke it up by swallowing the cause of it at one gulp. The hens gave him an admiring glance and separated as he strode off with the air of John Schnitzler at the head of the target company. Not long after the above related occurrence we noticed Mr. Rooster performing in the most remarkable manner; giving little leaps in the air, stretching out his head and wings, and stopping short in his strut and looking about in a surprised way.—"Ah, ha!" thought we, "the green pear is having its sure effect;" and as we mused Mr. Rooster gave a convulsive squawk, spread out his wings, lowered his head and started down Mill street at a gait that would have waked up some of the fast trotters hereabouts. We followed the bird to the corner of Division street, up which he went at a rattling pace until, arriving abreast of Laycock's (probably from the similarity of names) drug store, he went to work scratching about, evidently for something in the way of hot drops or other soothing and green-pear-dispelling nostrum.

That Game Played Out.

On Monday forenoon, about the hour when the weary are at rest and staying themselves with flagons (of lager) and comforting themselves with rusks in "Joe's" on the dock, there appeared unto them a lusty individual who had evidently just emerged from the adjacent barber shop, for in one hand he held his hat, while with the other he was rubbing the top of his head, the place where the hair ought to grow, and probably does, but no crop was visible, for that chap had the appearance of having just submitted to the operations of head shaving and sand-papering. Noticing the looks of astonishment on the faces of the audience he remarked, "that game's played out." "What game!" timidly inquired a diminutive tape-measurer who is endeavoring to get a corporation larger than that of a broomstick on him, by drinking two glasses of lager (which invariably cause him to wish he hadn't) a day. At this the smooth-headed man rose to explain: "Well, you see my wife had the habit of takin' a turn or two with her flippers in my hair an' slingin' me 'round kind a careless like, when she felt riled 'bout things, an' Saturday I thought I'd get her good-natured for Sunday, so I went an' bought her a new pair of gaiter boots. Did please the old gal, as she was kind er natural 'till Sunday, when she went to put them gaiters on. They didn't go on s' easy s'her old ones, and she got mad at me an' blowed 'bout my thickheadedness in gitting her tight boots, and the more she tried to git 'em on the madder she got, 'till she finally made a dive at me and kotched me by the hair, an' slung me down on the cabin floor an' just kicked them gaiters on agin my ribs. But that game's played; she won't find no hair to git hold of in one while." With a meditative wink at the crowd he discharged about a paper of moist cavendish from his mouth, and drawing the back of his hand across his lips said solemnly, "gi'me some beer."

—The Cobleskill fire department will make an excursion to Cooperstown during August.

Drowned.

On Tuesday forenoon about ten o'clock a boy about ten years old, named Freer, whose home is at a place known as the County Line, while playing on the bow of a canal boat, at the upper end of the island dock, fell into the water and was drowned. The fact was not discovered until some articles known to belong to him were found lying on the boat, which fact, together with his absence, was taken as proof that he had been drowned. Search was made for the body, but up to last evening without result, since which time we have learned nothing further.

The Battle Flag.

The target company yesterday, we noticed, carried the battle flag of the 20th Regiment, which flag was emblazoned with the names of all the battles in which the regiment was engaged during the late war. Now we mildly suggest that it was in exceeding bad taste for the target company to display such a flag, and the person or persons having that flag in charge should at once have charges preferred against them and be tried by a court-martial for lending it. It was a thing he or they had no more right to lend to a target company than to lend it to a steamboat to fly on an excursion. That there may have been some members of the target company who fought with the regiment, is no more excuse for lending the flag for such an occasion than there would be for lending it to a steamboat because some of the veterans were passengers on board the boat. The flag is the property of the state, and by its baptism of fire and blood is a sacred thing, and so looked upon by those who followed it, and fought beneath its folds in the battle's roar and smoke. Now that the regiment is to be disbanded we trust the flag will be sent to the capitol at Albany, where it will be properly taken care of, and not left to the guardianship of those who prostitute it to the use of a target company, or any other organization than that to which it rightfully belongs to display it.

COUNTY.

—Sam's Point is reported by the Ellenville Press as having a "rush of visitors."

—Business is stated to be very good in Ellenville. Also more summer visitors there than can find accommodations.

—A bookkeeper was advertised for the other day in Ellenville. We wonder how many scores of applicants responded?

—The Ellenville Glass Works are closed for the heated term. Their orders have been so many that but little manufactured stock remains on hand.

—The Ellenville Journal of Saturday reported the appearance in that town, on referee business, of a quartette of Kingston lawyers, Messrs. T. R. Westbrook, Marius Schoonmaker, Charles R. Fowler and James M. Cooper.

—We find the following in the New York World: In the Ulster and Greene district Wm. F. Scoresby, the present Senator, and Dr. Loughran, of Ulster county; George Beach and John A. Griswold, of Catskill, are mentioned on the Democratic side. No announcement has been made on the Republican side. Surveyor Sharpe, who runs the administration party of the district, probably has not selected his man yet, or if he has he has not publicly signified who he intends to give the nomination to. He will not allow any person to be nominated on his side who is not a willing tool of the Custom House ring.

OUR FREE PARLIAMENT.

The New City Directory.

MR. EDITOR:—I saw a few days since in your paper an item stating that J. H. Lant was soon to commence a new directory for this city. I trust the work will be carried out successfully and satisfactorily to our citizens, for a comprehensive, reliable and accurate directory is a great need here. But upon the commencement of this work it would be well, perhaps, to suggest to Mr. Lant that he and his assistants exercise a little more care in getting names and localities correct than has been the case heretofore. The last directory of Rondout and Kingston mangled many citizens' names out of all semblance to the correct ones.

Postponement.

The grove meeting announced to be held at Beaverkill, beginning August 26th, has been postponed to Sept. 9th, to continue over the following Sabbath. Tents may be secured by applying to the subscriber previous to Sept. 1st.

Rev. J. G. SLATER.

Lost.

A leather-covered pocket account book, with inside pocket containing a gold pen and holder with ebony handle, a number of notes and papers of no value to any one except the owner. The finder will be suitably rewarded by leaving the same at The Freeman office.

An Act of Cruelty.

Chapped hands and faces are the most serious annoyances that farmers, and people who labor much out of doors, experience from exposure. Exposed persons, especially children, repeatedly suffer intensely from cracks upon the hands, that often bleed. It is cruel to allow one's self or others to suffer in this way, when the means of positive prevention are so easy to be had, and so cheaply, as to pay ten cents for a cake of Hand Sapolio. Hand Sapolio is not only better than the costliest soap for removing dirt, but it prevents chapping, and renders the skin soft and pliable. Sold everywhere.

Hecker's Farina

SAPOLIO is a substitute for Soap for all House-hold purposes, except washing clothes.

SAPOLIO for Cleaning your House will save the labor of one cleaner. Give it a trial.

SAPOLIO for windows is better than Whiting or Water. No removing curtains and carpets.

SAPOLIO cleans Paint and Wood, in fact the entire house, better than Soap. No slopping. Saves labor. You can't afford to be without it.

SAPOLIO for Scouring Knives is better and cleaner than Bath Brick. Will not scratch.

SAPOLIO is better than Soap and Sand for polishing Tinware. Brightens without scratching.

SAPOLIO Polishes Brass and Copper utensils better than Acid or Oil and Rotten Stone.

SAPOLIO for Washing Dishes and Glassware is invaluable. Cheaper than Soap.

SAPOLIO removes Stains from Marble Mantels, Tables and Statuary, from Hard-finished Walls, and from China and Porcelain.

SAPOLIO removes Stains and Grease from Carpets and other woven fabrics.

There is no one article known that will do so many kinds of work and do it as well as Sapolio. Try it.

HAND SAPOLIO a new and wonderfully effective Toilet Soap, having no equal in this country or abroad.

HAND SAPOLIO as an article for the Bath, "reaches the foundation" of all dirt, opens the pores and gives a healthy action and brilliant tint to the skin.

HAND SAPOLIO Cleanses and Beautifies the Skin, instantly removing any stain or blemish from both hands and face.

HAND SAPOLIO is without a rival in the world for curing or preventing roughness and chapping of either hands or face.

HAND SAPOLIO removes Tar, Pitch, Iron or Ink Stains and Grease; for workers in Machine Shops, Mines, &c., is invaluable. For making the Skin White and Soft, and giving to it a "bloom of beauty," it is unsurpassed by any Cosmetic known.

HAND SAPOLIO costs 10 to 15 cents per cake, and everybody should have it. You will like it.

DON'T FAIL TO TRY THESE GOODS.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

CITY NOTES.

—The water sprinkler is again necessary in every street to allay the spoiled-furniture-fever of housekeepers.

—The screw steamer Eagle from Saugerties came in the creek yesterday for repairs at McEntee & Dillon's foundry.

—Quite a large colony from this city are disporting themselves "by the sad sea waves" at Long Branch, and the cry is still they go.

—The members of the Croquet Club were pleasantly entertained by Miss Minnie Ludlum at Wiltwyck on Monday afternoon.

—A one-legged man, who came over on the Lark from Rhinecliff on Monday forenoon, wanted the boot-black on the boat to give his wooden leg "a shine."

—The young man who had his jaw broken last Tuesday evening by a stone thrown by Martin Noble, called at The Freeman office yesterday to say his name was Edward Soy and not Sice.

—The Wallkill Valley Railway Company are erecting a fine platform along the line of their road near Union avenue, for a long distance, for the unloading of freight and comfort of passengers.

—The people who inhabit Wall street were much astonished Sunday to see a wild-looking youth, with hat off, going down that street about as fast as a roan horse and road wagon could carry him. Every little while he would yank fiercely at the bit, but the horse sped on unmindful of his frantic efforts, until he turned off the street and began to ascend the Keykout, when the animal subsided and stopped. It seems this youth had been trying to drive the horse with a curb bit, but had neglected to put a chain under the animal's jaw. Of course the curb was worse than nothing, for it tantalized the horse, who started off for a run. In the struggle to hold the horse, the youth's plug hat fell of in the street, which gave him the before-mentioned wild look that scared the people.

Poughkeepsians Coming.

To-morrow, Wednesday, the teachers, scholars and friends of the Hoffman Street Mission Chapel Sunday School of Poughkeepsie will make an excursion to this city and pic-nic in the grove at Ponckhockie, owned by Mr. Walter B. Crane.

Another Prize Won.

The New York Sun of Monday says: "There was a match between the members of the Amateur Rifle Association on Saturday. The prize was for the Amateur Club badge. There were seventeen entries. Capt. J. Bodine, of Highland, N. Y., again won the badge.—Messrs. Stube and Wingate took the sweepstakes. Bodine's score was 26 out of a possible 28."

Personals.

"Champ," of the Stamford Mirror, was in town yesterday and wound up a day of quiet pleasure by calling on "The Owl" at about—well, never mind what—o'clock last night. He starts for home this morning, having managed to "scoop in" a deal of enjoyment during his brief visit here.

Accident to the Mary Powell.

The steamer Mary Powell again picked up a log with her paddles near Cornwall on Saturday evening. It was thrust through the wheelhouse door, but was taken out at Cornwall, and after a slight delay she proceeded on up the river to her destination.—Newburgh Journal.

Death of a Former Rondouter.

Word was received on Tuesday by friends of the deceased in this city of the death of Oliver Perrine, a former resident of Rondout and well known here, but for several years living in the west. His death occurred at Indianapolis, Indiana. His remains it is expected will reach here on Wednesday, when they will be interred with Masonic honors. Members of Rondout Lodge will be duly notified.

A Fire, a Spanking and a Dog Fight.

The little son of J. Drake, who resides near Henry street, fired a bed in the house, on Monday and the result was a small conflagration. The boy was duly spanked, and the fire put out with soda water, which Mr. Drake keeps on hand for sale. The alarm of fire was sounded through the streets, and the firemen turned out quickly. Coming home, three black dogs took to fighting in Maiden Lane, which created much more of a furore than the fire. Final result: dogs were parted, and one chap's leg bitten badly.

Kingston Rambles.

Now that the summer days are growing somewhat more invigorating than of late—or cooler nights making them seem so—those of our visiting guests partial to pedestrianism have from upper Kingston two walks that can hardly fail of appreciation. The one to Keykout hill, where a magnificent mountain view greets the eye that is not outdone in these parts; the other to the Rondout section of the city via Jacob's Valley and Montrepose cemetery. The prospect from the hill tops, just beyond the latter, overhanging Rondout, combines a river and mountain view rarely if ever excelled.

Announcing Candidates.

The Freeman favors the announcement of candidates for office, after the fashion in vogue at the South and West, and opens its columns for that purpose. We heartily second the proposition. Were the practice generally adopted much good would result. Along with other advantages it would have the effect to compel office seekers to break cover and show their hands; and that would be worth a great deal, for as a rule in these days the fact that a man is plotting and hunting for office may be set down as prima facie evidence of his unfitness for it. Let candidates for the several important offices to be filled be publicly named at an early day, that the people may have an opportunity to canvass their respective merits and qualifications before the time for making formal nominations.—Ellenville Journal.

The Pot Calling the Kettle Black.

Rondout is, from the reports circulated, one of the poorest "scare crow" models to be seen anywhere. When visitors happen to stop there, they of course expected to see the same cleanliness of streets as in other river towns, but instead it resembles largely the Wild Land. —Hudson Star.

It is unfortunate that the streets through which strangers, as a general thing, pass, and from which their opinion of Rondout is formed are among the worst in the place, but in them can be found no such moral filth as that which presents its unblushing front along the street leading from the Hudson River Railroad depot to Main street in Hudson, and on Diamond and Chapel streets in the same sleepy little city. Rondout is a "poor scare crow" as compared with Hudson, which is an exceedingly good one, and if the lower portion of our city "resembles largely the Wild Land" it is a resemblance Hudson will never be accused of, unless it is the wildness of melancholy at the utter stupidity and stagnation of that ancient Hudson River city of five thousand inhabitants—city, forsooth!

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—The Old Hurley suspension bridge is again out of order. New beams and plank are being put in, and in the meantime the people must wade through the creek. A road for this purpose has been cut down each bank, and as the water is very low crossing the creek is not half the labor as climbing the bank.

—As the Sunday morning train neared the depot at West Hurley the leaders of the four horse team attached to one of the Overlook House stages became frightened and jumped off the wall in the rear of the depot. They sank in the mud up to their bodies and it required a great deal of work to get them out. Finally, by the aid of ropes, &c., they were dragged out, taken to a brook and washed, then proceeded on their journey to the Mountain House. A fence should be built along that wall, as it is quite dangerous. Should a stage loaded with passengers tip over in this marsh the folks could thereafter read Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress with some satisfaction.—The Slough of Despond bears no comparison with a West Hurley swamp hole.

—Boiceville, along the railroad, is getting up a reputation for retailing thunder and lightning whiskey that will soon surpass that of Shokan. One chap up there bought a jug of rum of a man who retails the article, drank some of it, then went home and cat-hauled his wife so she came near dying from the bruises. Another eccentric individual loaded himself with the benzine, went home and set his bed on fire. The result was the house was burned down, and all the furniture in it. The only thing of value rescued from the flames was the wife, and she has sued the rumseller for damages under the Civil Damage law. An astute attorney who resides somewhere near there, says the action won't lay because a man has the right to burn his own house if he wants to, and it's nobody's business. We are afraid that attorney hasn't read carefully the Civil Damage law. At any rate, Olive, for a town, is doing remarkably well, both as to the quality of the rum it uses and the number of Civil Damage cases that have been brought.

Coal Arrival.

Saturday 83 canal boats laden with 10,535 tons of coal reached tide water at Eddyville through the Delaware & Hudson canal. This is one of the largest arrivals of any day during the present season of navigation on the canal

Accident to a Horse.

On Monday afternoon a horse belonging to the firm of Turck & Burhans, in the lower part of the city, while drawing a load of lumber through Garden street, stumbled, or slipped, and fell, cutting one of its fore legs slightly, and injuring one of its eyes severely. One of the shafts of the wagon was broken.

Fishy.

Dr. R. Loughran, in addition to being a good physician, is also somewhat noted as a fisherman, and has a way of pulling out the scaly denizens of the water that suggests the thought that he has read up on Isaack Walton pretty thoroughly. When the Doctor goes down to the Hudson at Flatbush he always comes back with a big lot of bass; but he fishes with sturgeon spawn and is apt to get himself anointed in a manner that unfits him for making an entry in a drawing room; so he has adopted a serviceable but not gaudy uniform of rubber boots and blue jean overalls and shirt, and when the portly person of this "boy in blue" appears on the brow of the Flatbush hill the people have a way of saying, "There's goin' to be some tall fishin' to-day," —and there always is.

Runaway Accident.

While a gentleman and lady were riding down Ten Broeck avenue Saturday evening, the team became frightened at a fire that was burning in the roadway near Elmendorf street, and it was only by the utmost exertion they were prevented from running away. As it was the team plunged toward the walk, whirling the wagon with such swiftness it ran on two wheels for some distance. As they rushed by, the gentleman thought he saw some object lie in the way of the team; he did the best he could to clear it, but thought the wagon must have run over it. After having passed the fire, he managed to stop the horses and then upon looking back found the object was a small child sitting alongside the track. The wagon had passed within a hair's breadth of the little one, and the escape was almost miraculous. And now let us ask the mother of that child if she was not criminally careless in allowing a mere baby to be playing in the roadway, or even in the walk. But what shall we say of the man who will persist in building fires in the roadway and thus endangering the lives of every person who may be driving on the street? We do think he ought to be locked up for a time to give him a few months to think about the matter. Such folks are a nuisance to the community.

A Pleasure Trip.

A party of Poughkeepsians, among whom was Judge Barnard, took a ride over the Rhinebeck & Connecticut Railroad yesterday and also through the Delaware & Hudson Canal to Eddyville, on Mr. Hudson Taylor's steam yacht.—Poughkeepsie Press.

When The Freeman alluded to the Delaware & Hudson Canal Co. running excursion trains to Saratoga, which was a fact, the Press indulged in some loud guffaws at our supposed ignorance; but who, Oh! who would believe that a newspaper man could know so little about his own immediate vicinity? "Through the Delaware & Hudson Canal to Eddyville!" Why, Osborne, bless your soul, don't you know that Rondout Creek is navigable for large vessels from its mouth to Eddyville, a distance of three good miles, and an amount of shipping business is carried on in it that would astonish you Poughkeepsie greenhorns. Buy or borrow a map and find out for yourself that you can't enter the canal till you reach Eddyville. The Bessie didn't sail on the canal at all. Stick to your bridge, and let our canal alone.

Lackawanna Co.'s Target Excursion.

Lackawanna Steamer No. 1's company had a fine day for their target shooting excursion yesterday, and promptly at 10 A. M. line was formed in front of the engine house on Mill street, and the company marched from thence to Division street in the following order: Chief Engineer George Weber and First Assistant Thomas Leonard, three pioneers in bear-skin caps, fire suits and bearing battle axes, Goeller's band, twenty-seven men in fatigue uniform of Lackawanna Company, each bearing a musket at "right shoulder shift," and in the muzzle of the barrel of each "shooting iron" was a bouquet, which added not a little to the brightness of the mass of color made by the procession. The Company was under command of Captain Willett L. Hasbrouck, with John Schnitzler, John J. O'Reilley and Walter Pardee as Lieutenants, Fred. Menger and Wenzel Radle as Sergeants. F. Heybruck was was Captain of Pioneers. There was also a martial form bearing the target and bringing up the rear, of whose rank we are not certain, but from the scornful manner in which his graceful feet spurned the earth we are confident he must be a Major General in the corps d' Afrique at least. The Company made the tour of the principal streets in the lower part of the city, with band playing and colors flying, and then marched to the scene of the trial of skill in target firing.

After spending the afternoon in target firing and dancing and having a thoroughly festive time, the Company returned home in the evening, reaching their room about nine o'clock. We were unable last evening to obtain the list of winners of prizes, but will publish it to-morrow. The prizes were numerous and some of them very valuable.

Announcement of Candidates.

Our Next County Clerk.

MR. EDITOR:—As the time for nominating county officers to be supported at our next election is rapidly drawing near, I have reflected and meditated upon the merits and qualifications of the different candidates mentioned for the various offices, and after listening to quiet discussions among intelligent, sound-thinking business men, irrespective of political party, the conclusion arrived at is, that we have one man in our city who ought and should receive the nomination and election of County Clerk.

That man is a poor young man, quiet, unobtrusive and unostentatious. He has long been an active politician, and is publicly and favorably known as one having hosts of friends. His modesty exceeds his better judgment, as in this instance he can hardly be persuaded to become a candidate. He is not connected with any ring, has never been rewarded with official pap, although deserving of better treatment at the hands of his political associates long ago. His nomination would insure his election. Has he a single enemy? I personally know that nearly all the young men (who always do the hard work at the polls) would be glad to give him a vote; and it is our duty to ignore all rings and slates, and fill our public offices with men of fitness having the requisite qualifications.

Such a man we have—one known to be strictly honest (having filled several subordinate financial positions of public trust), of unswerving integrity and true fidelity, with a reputation and character without stain, spot or blemish.

I take great pleasure, Mr. Editor, in recommending to delegates from all parts of the county the name of JAMES R. FOLAND as one embodying all the virtues above spoken of, and well worthy of receiving their careful consideration for the nomination of County Clerk.

E. A. DURHAM.

Dated August 8th, 1873.

Summer Boarders.

It is astonishing to see the number of city people who are spending the summer in the country along the line of the N. Y., K. & S. R. R. Not only is Delaware county flooded, Pine Hill and Shandaken filled to overflowing, but even lower down in the town of Olive hundreds are spending their vacations. Shokan has a large number of these folks, most of whom are young ladies in moderate circumstances who come into the country to spend their short vacations climbing the mountains, wading in brooks, picking berries and drinking fresh milk. Their board bills are much less than if they remained in the city. A large party of these folks, who are rusticating in and around Shokan, having read the description of High Point in The Freeman, took a trip up there Monday, to have a good view, and at the same time fill some pails with huckleberries. It was a jolly-looking load.

A Serious Accident.

On Saturday forenoon, about 10:30 o'clock, Mrs. Dayton, of Port Ewen, with a child some seven or eight years of age and two young ladies, got in a wagon infront of their residence, when the horse attached to the vehicle started and the young man who was to drive leaped into the wagon and grabbed for the reins, but succeeded in getting hold of but one of them. The horse took so sudden a sheer the wagon was upset and the whole party thrown violently to the ground. Mrs. Dayton received a severe cut over one eye, was scratched and bruised about the face, and received some injuries about the body. The two young ladies were also scratched and bruised about the head and face, but fortunately their injuries were slight. The child was entirely uninjured, as was also the driver, who succeeded in preventing the horse from running away. Mrs. Dayton was carried into the house by some of the neighbors who witnessed the accident, and medical assistance summoned, as her hurts were supposed to be of a dangerous nature. Though painfully injured, Mrs. Dayton is by no means dangerously hurt.

A Colic-smitten Cock.

There is an immense Bramahpootra rooster that occasionally escorts his harem into and about Mill street, where they forage around, not disdaining such tid-bits as they find lying around loose, be they worn-out type or old hoop skirts. On Monday afternoon we noticed the above-mentioned cock strutting about in his usual important manner while his wives collated on whatever they could find. Finally three old hens, who had been holding a matinee over a particularly hard, green pear left off pecking it to peck one another, when the arrow glance of the cock's eye fell upon the squabble. Swelling out his breast and erecting his crest to a greater attitude than usual, Mr. Rooster sauntered over to the green pear matinee and broke it up by swallowing the cause of it at one gulp. The hens gave him an admiring glance and separated as he strode off with the air of John Schnitzler at the head of the target company. Not long after the above related occurrence we noticed Mr. Rooster performing in the most remarkable manner; giving little leaps in the air, stretching out his head and wings, and stopping short in his strut and looking about in a surprised way.—"Ah, ha!" thought we, "the green pear is having its sure effect;" and as we mused Mr. Rooster gave a convulsive squawk, spread out his wings, lowered his head and started down Mill street at a gait that would have waked up some of the fast trotters hereabouts. We followed the bird to the corner of Division street, up which he went at a rattling pace until, arriving abreast of Laycock's (probably from the similarity of names) drug store, he went to work scratching about, evidently for something in the way of hot drops or other soothing and green-pear-dispelling nostrum.

That Game Played Out.

On Monday forenoon, about the hour when the weary are at rest and staying themselves with flagons (of lager) and comforting themselves with rusks in "Joe's" on the dock, there appeared unto them a lusty individual who had evidently just emerged from the adjacent barber shop, for in one hand he held his hat, while with the other he was rubbing the top of his head, the place where the hair ought to grow, and probably does, but no crop was visible, for that chap had the appearance of having just submitted to the operations of head shaving and sand-papering. Noticing the looks of astonishment on the faces of the audience he remarked, "that game's played out." "What game!" timidly inquired a diminutive tape-measurer who is endeavoring to get a corporation larger than that of a broomstick on him, by drinking two glasses of lager (which invariably cause him to wish he hadn't) a day. At this the smooth-headed man rose to explain: "Well, you see my wife had the habit of takin' a turn or two with her flippers in my hair an' slingin' me 'round kind a careless like, when she felt riled 'bout things, an' Saturday I thought I'd get her good-natured for Sunday, so I went an' bought her a new pair of gaiter boots. Did please the old gal, as she was kind er natural 'till Sunday, when she went to put them gaiters on. They didn't go on s' easy s'her old ones, and she got mad at me an' blowed 'bout my thickheadedness in gitting her tight boots, and the more she tried to git 'em on the madder she got, 'till she finally made a dive at me and kotched me by the hair, an' slung me down on the cabin floor an' just kicked them gaiters on agin my ribs. But that game's played; she won't find no hair to git hold of in one while." With a meditative wink at the crowd he discharged about a paper of moist cavendish from his mouth, and drawing the back of his hand across his lips said solemnly, "gi'me some beer."

—The Cobleskill fire department will make an excursion to Cooperstown during August.

Drowned.

On Tuesday forenoon about ten o'clock a boy about ten years old, named Freer, whose home is at a place known as the County Line, while playing on the bow of a canal boat, at the upper end of the island dock, fell into the water and was drowned. The fact was not discovered until some articles known to belong to him were found lying on the boat, which fact, together with his absence, was taken as proof that he had been drowned. Search was made for the body, but up to last evening without result, since which time we have learned nothing further.

The Battle Flag.

The target company yesterday, we noticed, carried the battle flag of the 20th Regiment, which flag was emblazoned with the names of all the battles in which the regiment was engaged during the late war. Now we mildly suggest that it was in exceeding bad taste for the target company to display such a flag, and the person or persons having that flag in charge should at once have charges preferred against them and be tried by a court-martial for lending it. It was a thing he or they had no more right to lend to a target company than to lend it to a steamboat to fly on an excursion. That there may have been some members of the target company who fought with the regiment, is no more excuse for lending the flag for such an occasion than there would be for lending it to a steamboat because some of the veterans were passengers on board the boat. The flag is the property of the state, and by its baptism of fire and blood is a sacred thing, and so looked upon by those who followed it, and fought beneath its folds in the battle's roar and smoke. Now that the regiment is to be disbanded we trust the flag will be sent to the capitol at Albany, where it will be properly taken care of, and not left to the guardianship of those who prostitute it to the use of a target company, or any other organization than that to which it rightfully belongs to display it.

COUNTY.

—Sam's Point is reported by the Ellenville Press as having a "rush of visitors."

—Business is stated to be very good in Ellenville. Also more summer visitors there than can find accommodations.

—A bookkeeper was advertised for the other day in Ellenville. We wonder how many scores of applicants responded?

—The Ellenville Glass Works are closed for the heated term. Their orders have been so many that but little manufactured stock remains on hand.

—The Ellenville Journal of Saturday reported the appearance in that town, on referee business, of a quartette of Kingston lawyers, Messrs. T. R. Westbrook, Marius Schoonmaker, Charles R. Fowler and James M. Cooper.

—We find the following in the New York World: In the Ulster and Greene district Wm. F. Scoresby, the present Senator, and Dr. Loughran, of Ulster county; George Beach and John A. Griswold, of Catskill, are mentioned on the Democratic side. No announcement has been made on the Republican side. Surveyor Sharpe, who runs the administration party of the district, probably has not selected his man yet, or if he has he has not publicly signified who he intends to give the nomination to. He will not allow any person to be nominated on his side who is not a willing tool of the Custom House ring.

OUR FREE PARLIAMENT.

The New City Directory.

MR. EDITOR:—I saw a few days since in your paper an item stating that J. H. Lant was soon to commence a new directory for this city. I trust the work will be carried out successfully and satisfactorily to our citizens, for a comprehensive, reliable and accurate directory is a great need here. But upon the commencement of this work it would be well, perhaps, to suggest to Mr. Lant that he and his assistants exercise a little more care in getting names and localities correct than has been the case heretofore. The last directory of Rondout and Kingston mangled many citizens' names out of all semblance to the correct ones. H.

Postponement.

The grove meeting announced to be held at Beaverkill, beginning August 26th, has been postponed to Sept. 9th, to continue over the following Sabbath. Tents may be secured by applying to the subscriber previous to Sept. 1st. Rev. J. G. SLATER.

Lost.

A leather-covered pocket account book, with inside pocket containing a gold pen and holder with ebony handle, a number of notes and papers of no value to any one except the owner. The finder will be suitably rewarded by leaving the same at The Freeman office.

An Act of Cruelty.

Chapped hands and faces are the most serious annoyances that farmers, and people who labor much out of doors, experience from exposure. Exposed persons, especially children, repeatedly suffer intensely from cracks upon the hands, that often bleed. It is cruel to allow one's self or others to suffer in this way, when the means of positive prevention are so easy to be had, and so cheaply, as to pay ten cents for a cake of Hand Sapolio. Hand Sapolio is not only better than the costliest soap for removing dirt, but it prevents chapping, and renders the skin soft and pliable. Sold everywhere.

How a Young Married Man Tried to Kill Himself and Didn't Succeed.

The other day the people in a street of San Francisco heard a pistol report, and saw a young man fall upon the sidewalk. The fallen man had a lighted cigar in one hand and a smoking pistol in the other. He dropped the pistol and continued pulling at the cigar. A bystander asked him who did it, and he replied, "I did it myself! I'm ruined." Some men helped the ruined man to a doctor's office, and three doctors went to work at him prospecting for lead. They found a hole in his breast which did not bleed a drop—it had not even soiled his shirt. An old doctor shook his head and began to cut. The patient was stretched upon a lounge, and between the whiffs of his cigar he remarked occasionally, "That hurts." The ball could not be found. The doctor asked him his name. He said, "Charles P. Stoddard," had a wife and child and lived at 18 Eddy street. The doctor told a boy to run for the wife. The patient, blowing a huge volume of smoke into rings as he spoke, asked the doctor how long he would give him. The doctor said he couldn't tell exactly, but it could not be long. The young man resumed his cigar and said, "All right." Presently a boy came dashing into the office, followed by a woman pale and breathless. She looked at the lounging young man an instant, and asked to see her husband. The patient looked up and said, "That's the wrong woman." She explained that she lived at No. 18 Ellis street. The boy had made a mistake—that was all; but the poor woman was nearly frightened to death. Her husband had just left her to go down town, and the boy had bounced into her house like a bombshell with the report that the husband had shot himself. She had no interest in this young man, and left the doctor's office feeling a thousand per cent. better than she did when she entered it. Medicine's a great thing. The right woman was sent for, and she came and gulped her trouble down like a dose of medicine. A carriage was brought, and the young man and his young wife went home, and he was put speedily to bed. Another doctor was sent for, and while he was coming the women about the house commenced hunting for the ball. One of them found what she supposed to be a lead deposit around near his backbone, in the muscles under the shoulder-blade. The doctor came, and the women said nothing of their discovery. The fresh doctor shook his head and commenced cutting and slashing, and the young man asked him "if it was going to bring on the crisis." The doctor said it was impossible to tell what the result would be; and then the patient got another cigar going, saying, "if he was going to 'peg out,' he would have just one more smoke, anyhow." And the doctor plowed and carved and tunneled after the course of the ball until the breast was pretty well chopped up, and finally bethought himself of turning the subject over. He then found the spot the women had discovered, commenced digging there, and soon struck lead. When the ball was out the smoker asked the doctor about how long he thought it would be before he "made the trip." The doctor gave him the soothing reply that he had relinquished the journey altogether for the present. He could not understand how so many blunders had been made in his case, but hoped he would make no failure himself next time. After binding up the wounds the doctor left, and the patient resigned himself to his hard fate and lighted another cigar. He was altogether the coolest and pleasantest suicide that ever attempted to "make the trip" from California.

STATE OF NEW YORK.—Office of the Secretary of State, Albany, July 29, 1873.—To the Sheriff of the County of Ulster, Sir:—Notice is hereby given that, at the General Election to be held in this State on the Tuesday succeeding the first Monday of November next, the following officers are to be elected, to-wit: A Secretary of State, in the place of G. Hilton Scribner; a Comptroller, in the place of Nelson K. Hopkins; a Treasurer, in the place of Thomas Raines; an Attorney-General, in the place of Francis C. Barlow; a State Engineer and Surveyor, in the place of William B. Taylor; a Canal Commissioner, in the place of John D. Fay; an Inspector of State Prisons, in the place of Solomon Scheu; all whose terms of office will expire on the last day of December next. Also, a Justice of the Supreme Court for the Third Judicial District in the place of Peter S. Danforth, whose term of office will expire on the last day of December next. Also, a Senator for the Fourteenth Senate District, comprising the counties of Greene and Ulster.

COUNTY OFFICERS TO BE ELECTED.

Three Members of Assembly; a Sheriff, in the place of John W. Kerr, a County Clerk in the place of Charles W. Deyo; a Superintendent of the Poor, in the place of Benjamin J. Winne; two Justices of Sessions, in the place of John D. Merrihew and Philip Schryver; two Coroners, in the place of Charles Stephan and John Van Nostrand; all whose terms will expire on the last day of December next.

The attention of Inspectors of Election and County Canvassers is directed to Chap. 314 of Laws of 1873, a copy of which is printed herewith, entitled: "An Act to provide for submitting to the electors of this State, at the general election to be held on the Tuesday following the first Monday of November, eighteen hundred and seventy-three, the question whether the offices of Chief Judge and Associate Judge of the Court of Appeals, of Justices of the Supreme Court, of the Judge of the Superior Court of the city of New York, of the Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of the city and county of New York, of the Judge of the Superior Court of Buffalo, of the Judge of the city of Brooklyn, of the County Judge of the several counties of this State, shall be hereafter filled by appointment, pursuant to section seventeen, article six, of the constitution," for instructions in regard to their duties under said act.

CHAP. 314.

AN ACT to provide for submitting to the electors of this State, at the general election to be held on the Tuesday following the first Monday of November, eighteen hundred and seventy-three, the question whether the offices of chief judge and associate judge of the court of appeals, of justices of the supreme court, of the judge of the superior court of the city of New York, of the judge of the court of common pleas of the city and county of New York, of the judge of the superior court of Buffalo, of the judge of the city of Brooklyn, of the county judge of the several counties of this State, shall be hereafter filled by appointment, pursuant to section seventeen, article six, of the constitution.

Passed April 26, 1873; three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The question whether the offices of chief judge and associate judge of the court of appeals, the justices of the supreme court, the judges of the superior court of the city of New York, of the court of common pleas of the city and county of New York, of the superior court of Buffalo, of the city court of Brooklyn, and the county judge of the several counties of this State, shall hereafter be filled by appointment, shall be submitted to the electors of this State, at the general election to be held on the Tuesday succeeding the first Monday of November next, as provided in section seventeen of article six of the constitution of this State, in the manner hereinafter mentioned.

§ 2. The inspectors of election in each election district in the State shall provide two boxes, in which they shall deposit the ballots of the electors upon the question whether the judges and justices of the several courts named in the first section of this act shall hereafter be filled by appointment. One of said boxes shall be labeled "appointment or election of the chief judge and associate judges of the court of appeals and of justices of the supreme court." The other one shall be labeled "appointment or election of judges of city and county courts." Each citizen entitled to vote at such election may vote two ballots, as follows: One of them shall be endorsed "appointment or election of the chief judge and associate judges of the court of appeals, and of the justices of the supreme court," "and shall contain on the inside, when folded, the words, "shall the offices of chief judge and associate judge of the court of appeals and of the justices of the supreme court be hereafter filled by appointment—Yes," or the words, "shall the offices of chief judge and associate judge of the court of appeals and of the justices of the supreme court be hereafter filled by appointment—No;" and all such ballots shall be deposited in the boxes labeled "appointment or election of chief judge and associate judges of the court of appeals and justices of the supreme court." The other of said ballots shall be indorsed "appointment or election of judges of city and county courts," and on the inside, when folded, shall contain the words, "shall the offices of the judge of the superior court of the city of New York, of the judge of the court of common pleas of the city and county of New York, of the judge of the superior court of Buffalo, of the judge of the city of Brooklyn, of the county judge of the several counties of this State be hereafter filled by appointment—Yes," or the words, "shall the offices of the judge of the superior court of the city of New York, of the judge of the court of common pleas of the city and county of New York, of the judge of the superior court of Buffalo, of the judge of the city court of Brooklyn, of the county judge of the several counties of this State be hereafter filled by appointment—No." And all such ballots shall be deposited in the box labeled "appointment or election of the judges of the city and county courts."

§ 3. The inspectors of election in each election district, after the closing of the polls of such election, shall count and canvass separately the ballots deposited in each of the said boxes in the manner prescribed by law in reference to other elections, and shall ascertain the whole number of ballots upon each of the questions to be submitted as aforesaid. The inspectors, after having so counted said ballots, shall set down in writing the whole number of such ballots upon each question, and the whole number for and against each of the said questions, and shall certify and make return of the said several votes in the same manner as prescribed by law in reference to other ballots at a general election.

§ 4. The votes so given shall be canvassed by the several boards of county canvassers at the next meeting thereof after such election, and the aggregate results in the several counties shall be canvassed and certified by the board of State canvassers. The existing laws in reference to a general election shall in all respects, so far as applicable, apply to and regulate the proceedings and duties of the said board of county and State canvassers, and of the county clerks and secretary of State. From the statements made to the board of State canvassers it shall determine whether a majority of the votes upon the questions submitted to the electors of the State, as herein provided, be in the affirmative or negative. The said board shall make a certificate of such determination and shall deliver the same to the secretary of State, who shall file the same in his office.

§ 5. If a majority of all the ballots indorsed "Appointment or election of chief judge and associate judges of the court of appeals and of justices of the supreme court" shall be in the affirmative, then the said officers shall not after said election be elective, but, as vacancies occur, they shall be filled by appointment by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, or if the senate be not in session, by the governor; but in such case he shall nominate to the senate when next convened, and such appointment by the governor alone shall expire at the end of that session; but if the majority of said ballots so endorsed be in the negative, then the said officers shall be elective, as heretofore. If a majority of the ballots indorsed "Appointment or election of judges of city and county courts" shall contain on the inside the question as hereinbefore provided, answered in the affirmative, then the said officers mentioned in the said question shall not after said election be elective, but as vacancies occur they shall be filled by appointment by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, or if the senate be not in session, by the governor; but in such case he shall nominate to the senate, when next convened, and such appointment by the governor alone shall expire at the end of that session; but if a majority of the ballots so indorsed shall be answered in the negative, then the said officers shall be elected as heretofore.

§ 6. It shall be the duty of the secretary of State to cause the said questions, together with the forms of the ballots as herein specified, to be published in two or more newspapers in each of the counties of this state, the same number of times prior to the said election as is now required by law to be published of the officers to be elected and the offices to be filled at such election; such newspapers to be designated by the Secretary of State in the manner now provided by law for designating newspapers to publish election notices; but no neglect or failure to publish or informality of publication shall impair the validity of such election.

§ 7. It shall be the duty of the secretary of State to include in and cause to be published with the election notices for the said general election, a notice in substance and effect as follows: "Pursuant to section seventeen of article six of the constitution of this state, two questions will be submitted to the electors of this state, to be voted upon separate ballots, as follows: 1st. Shall the offices of chief judge and associate judge of the court of appeals, and of justice of the supreme court be hereafter filled by appointment. 2d, Shall the offices of the judge of the superior court of the city of New York, the court of common pleas of the city and county of New York, the judge of the superior court of Buffalo, the judge of the city court of Brooklyn, and the judge of the county courts of the several counties of this State be hereafter filled by appointment." And at such election each elector will be entitled to vote separately for or against each of said questions, and if a majority of the votes shall be in the affirmative of said questions, then the said judges and justices therein referred to, after said election, as vacancies occur, will be appointed by the governor, as provided by law. No failure or omission to give notice, or any informality in the notice or the giving thereof, shall impair the validity of such notice, or the election herein provided for.

§ 8. This act shall take effect immediately.

Yours Respectfully,
G. HILTON SCRIBNER,
Secretary of State.

ULSTER COUNTY SHERIFF'S OFFICE,
KINGSTON, August 4, 1873.

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN
BLOOD PURIFIER
JURUBEBA

Is the most powerful cleanser, strengthener and remover of Glandular Obstructions known to Materia Medica.

It is specially adapted to constitutions "worn down" and debilitated by the warm weather of Spring and Summer, when the blood is not in active circulation, consequently gathering impurities from sluggishness and imperfect action of the secretive organs, and is manifested by Tumors, Eruptions, Blotches, Boils, Pustules, Scrofula, &c., &c.

When weary and languid from overwork, and dullness, drowsiness and inertia take the place of energy and vigor, the system needs a Tonic to build it up and help the Vital Forces to regain their recuperative power.

In the heat of Summer, frequently the Liver and Spleen do not properly perform their functions; the Uterine and Urinary Organs are inactive, producing weakness of the stomach and intestines and a predisposition to bilious derangement.

DR. WELLS'
EXTRACT OF JURUBEBA

is prepared directly from the SOUTH AMERICAN PLANT, and is peculiarly suited to all these difficulties; it will cleanse the VITIATED BLOOD, strengthen the LIFE-GIVING POWERS, and REMOVE ALL OBSTRUCTIONS from IMPAIRED AND ENFEEBLED Organs.

It should be freely taken, as Jurubeba is pronounced by medical writers the most efficient PURIFIER, TONIC and DEOBSTRUENT known in the whole range of medicinal plants.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS proposing an amendment to article ten of the constitution.

Resolved (if the assembly concur), That article ten of the constitution be amended by adding at the end thereof an additional section as follows:

§ 9. No officer whose salary is fixed by the constitution shall receive any additional compensation.—Each of the other state officers named in the constitution shall, during his continuance in office, receive a compensation, to be fixed by law, which shall not be increased or diminished during the term for which he shall have been elected or appointed; nor shall he receive to his use any fees or perquisites of office or other compensation.

Resolved (if the assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and that in conformity to section one of article thirteen of the constitution, it be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS proposing amendments to article six of the constitution.

Resolved (if the assembly concur), That section eighteen of article six of the constitution be amended so as to read as follows:

§ 18. The electors of the several towns shall at their annual town meeting, and in such manner as the legislature may direct, elect justices of the peace, whose term of office shall be four years. In case of an election to fill a vacancy occurring before the expiration of a full term, they shall hold for the residue of the unexpired term. Their number and classification may be regulated by law. Justices of the peace and judges or justices of inferior courts, not of record, and their clerks, may be removed after due notice and an opportunity to be heard by such courts as may be prescribed by law for causes to be assigned in the order of removal. Judicial officers of courts, not of record, in the several cities of the state having a population of not less than three hundred thousand, shall be appointed by the governor, with the consent of the senate, for a term of four years, and shall be subject to removal after due notice and an opportunity of being heard by such courts as may be prescribed by law for causes to be assigned in the order of removal. All other judicial officers in cities whose election is not otherwise provided for in this article, shall be chosen by the electors of cities or appointed by some local authorities thereof.

Resolved (if the assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election for senators, and that in conformity to section one of article thirteen of the constitution, it be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS proposing an amendment to the constitution relative to funding the canal and general fund debts now charged on the canals.

Resolved, (if the assembly concur), That the following amendment to the constitution be proposed for adoption to the people of the state, viz.:

ARTICLE —.

The commissioners of the canal fund shall borrow, on the credit of the state, such sums as may be necessary for paying the canal and general fund debts now charged on the canals, as the same shall fall due, by the issue and sale of bonds, or certificates of stock, having forty years to run from their date, bearing interest at the rate of five per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, for the payment of the principal whereof at maturity a sinking fund of one per cent per annum shall be established, and the tolls of the canals shall be fixed from time to time by the canal board at rates sufficing, as near as may be, to provide only for said sinking fund the interest on the debt so created, the expenses of collection, superintendence and keeping the canals in repair; and the contribution so created for said sinking fund shall be invested annually by the comptroller in the bonds or certificates of stock authorized by this article, or in the stocks or bonds of the state of New York or of the United States, which shall be held for the redemption and payment of the bonds or certificates herein authorized to be issued and sacredly applied to that purpose; all of said debt and interest shall be paid from the revenues of the canals, and no direct tax shall ever be levied or collected for canal purposes, either for current expenses or repairs, ordinary or extraordinary.

Resolved, (if the assembly concur) That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and that in conformity to section one of article thirteen of the constitution it be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION proposing an amendment to article twelve of the constitution.

Resolved, (if the assembly concur), That article twelve of the constitution be amended so as to read as follows:

ARTICLE XII.

§ 1. Members of the legislature (and all officers, executive and judicial, except such inferior officers as shall be by law exempted), shall, before they enter on the duties of their respective offices, take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation; "I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support the constitution of the United States, and the constitution of the state of New York, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of the office of .... according to the best of my ability," and all such officers who shall have been chosen at any election shall, before they enter upon the duties of their respective offices, take and subscribe the oath or affirmation above prescribed, together with the following addition thereto, as part thereof; "And I do further solemnly swear (or affirm) that I have not directly or indirectly paid offered or promised to pay, contributed or offered or promised to contribute, any money or other valuable thing as a consideration or reward for the giving or withholding of a vote at the election at which I was elected to said office, and have not made any promise to influence the giving or withholding any such vote," and no other oath, declaration or test shall be required as a qualification for any office of public trust.

Resolved, (if the assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and that, in conformity to section one of article thirteen of the constitution, it be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS proposing an amendment to article eight of the constitution.

Resolved (if the assembly concur), That article eight of the constitution be amended, by amending section four thereof, so as to read as follows:

§ 4. The legislature shall, by general law, conform all charters of savings banks, or institutions for savings, to a uniformity of powers, rights and liabilities, and all charters hereafter granted for such corporations shall be made to conform to such general law, and to such amendments as may be made thereto. And no such corporation shall have any capital stock, or shall the trustees thereof, or any of them have any interest whatever, direct or indirect, in the profits of such corporation; and no director or trustee of any such bank or institution shall be interested in any loan or use of money or property of such bank or institution for savings. The legislature shall have no power to pass any act granting any special charter for banking purposes; but corporations or associations may be formed for such purposes under general laws.

And further, by adding thereto additional sections to be known as sections ten and eleven, as follows:

§ 10. Neither the credit nor the money of the state shall be given or loaned to or in aid of any association, corporation or private undertaking. This section shall not, however, prevent the legislature from making such provision for the education and support of the blind, the deaf and dumb, and juvenile delinquents, as to it may seem proper. Nor shall it apply to any fund or property now held or which may hereafter be held by the state for educational purposes.

§ 11. No county, city, town, or village shall hereafter give any money or property, or loan its money or credit, to or in aid of any individual, association or corporation, or become, directly or indirectly, the owner of stock in or bonds of any association or corporation, nor shall any such county, city, town or village be allowed to incur any indebtedness, except for county, city, town or village purposes. This section shall not prevent such county, city, town or village from making such provisions for the aid or support of its poor, as may be authorized by law.

Resolved (if the assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and that, in conformity to section one of article thirteen of the constitution, it be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION proposing an amendment to the constitution by adding additional articles to be as known articles fifteen and sixteen, as follows:

ARTICLE XV.

SECTION 1. Any person holding office under the laws of this state, who, except in payment of his legal salary, fees or perquisites, shall receive or consent to receive, directly or indirectly, anything of value or of personal advantage, or the promise thereof, for performing or omitting to perform any official act, or with the express or implied understanding that his official act or omission to act is to be in any degree influenced thereby, shall be deemed guilty of a felony. This section shall not affect the validity of any existing statutes in relation to the offence of bribery.

§ 2. Any person who shall offer or promise a bribe to an officer, if it shall be received, shall be deemed guilty of a felony and be liable to a punishment, except as herein provided. No person offering a bribe shall, upon any prosecution of the officer for receiving such bribe, be privileged from testifying in relation thereto, and he shall not be liable to civil or criminal prosecution therefor, if he shall testify to the giving or offering of such bribe. Any person who shall offer or promise a bribe, if it be rejected by the officer to whom it is tendered, shall be deemed guilty of an attempt to bribe, which is hereby declared to be a felony.

§ 3. Any person charged with receiving a bribe, or with offering or promising a bribe, shall be permitted to testify in his own behalf in any civil or criminal prosecution therefor.

§ 4. Any district attorney who shall fail faithfully to prosecute a person charged with the violation in his county of any provision of this article which may come to his knowledge, shall be removed from office by the governor, after due notice and an opportunity of being heard in his defence. The expenses which shall be incurred by any county in investigating and proving any charge of bribery, or attempting to bribe any person holding office under the laws of this state, within such county, or of receiving bribes by any such person in said county, shall be a charge against the state, and their payment by the state shall be provided for by law.

ARTICLE XVI.

SECTION 1. All amendments to the constitution shall be in force from and including the first day of January succeeding the election at which the same were adopted, except when otherwise provided by such amendments.

Resolved, (if the assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and that, in conformity to section one of article thirteen of the constitution, it be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

STATE OF NEW YORK, In Senate, May 21, 1873.—The foregoing resolutions were duly passed.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION proposing an amendment to article seven of the constitution.

Resolved (if the assembly concur), That sections three and six of article seven be amended as follows:

Section three to be amended by adding at the end of the section the following:

No extra compensation shall be made to any contractor; but if from any unforeseen cause, the terms of any contract shall prove to be unjust and oppressive, the canal board may, upon the application of the contractor, cancel such contract.

§ 6. The legislature shall not sell, lease or otherwise dispose of the Erie canal, the Oswego canal, the Champlain canal, the Black River canal, or the Cayuga and Seneca canal; but they shall remain the property of the state and under its management forever. Hereafter the expenditure for collections, superintendence, ordinary and extraordinary repairs on the canals named in this section shall not exceed, in any year, their gross receipts for the previous year. All funds that may be derived from any lease, sale or other disposition of any canal shall be applied in payment of the debt for which the canal revenues are pledged.

That the following be added as sections thirteen and fourteen, in place of sections thirteen and fourteen of this article, which have been transferred and inserted as sections twenty-one and twenty-two of article three.

§ 13. The sinking funds provided for the payment of interest and extinguishment of the principal of the debts of the state, shall be separately kept and safely invested, and neither of them shall be appropriated or used in any manner other than for the specific purpose for which it shall have been provided.

§ 14. Neither the legislature, canal board, canal appraisers, nor any person or persons acting in behalf of the state, shall audit, allow or pay any claim which, as between citizens of the state, would be barred by lapse of time. The limitation of existing claims shall begin to run from the adoption of this section; but this provision shall not be construed to revive claims already barred by existing statutes, nor to repeal any statute fixing the time within which claims shall be presented or allowed, nor shall it extend to any claims duly presented within the time allowed by law, and prosecuted with due diligence from the time of such presentment. But if the claimant shall be under legal disability, the claim may be presented within two years after such disability is removed.

Resolved (if the assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and that in conformity with section one of article thirteen of the constitution, it be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

STATE OF NEW YORK, In Senate, May 21, 1873.—The foregoing resolutions were duly passed.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS proposing amendments to article two of the constitution.

Resolved, (if the assembly concur), That sections one and two of the constitution be amended so as to read as follows:

§ 1. Every male citizen of the age of twenty-one years who shall have been a citizen for ten days, and an inhabitant of the state one year next preceding any election, and for the last four months a resident of the county, and for the last thirty days a resident of the election district in which he may offer his vote, shall be entitled to vote at such election in the election district of which he shall at the time be a resident, and not elsewhere, for all officers that now are or hereafter may be elective by the people, and upon all questions which may be submitted to a vote of the people, provided that, in time of war, no elector in the actual military service of the state, or of the United States, in the army or navy thereof, shall be deprived of his vote by reason of his absence from any election district; and the legislature shall have power to provide the manner in which and the time and place at which such absent electors may vote, and for the return and canvass of their votes in the election districts in which they respectively reside.

§ 2. No person who shall receive, expect or offer to receive, or pay, offer or promise to pay, contribute, offer or promise to contribute to another, to be paid or used, any money or other valuable thing as a compensation for the giving or withholding a vote at an election, or who shall make any promise to influence the giving or withholding any such vote, or who shall make or become, directly or indirectly, interested in any bet or wager, depending upon the result of any election, shall vote at such election; and upon challenge for such cause, the person so challenged, before the officers authorized for that purpose shall receive his vote, shall swear or affirm before such officers that he has not received or offered, does not expect to receive, has not paid, offered or promised to pay, contributed, offered or promised to contribute to another, to be paid or used, any money or other valuable thing, as a compensation or reward for the giving or withholding a vote at such election, and has not made any promise to influence the giving or withholding of any such vote, nor made or become, directly or indirectly, interested in any bet or wager depending upon the result of such election. The legislature, at the session thereof next after the adoption of this section, shall, and from time to time thereafter may, enact laws excluding from the right of suffrage all persons convicted of bribery or any infamous crime.

Resolved, (if the assembly concur), That the foregoing amendments be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and that in conformity with section one of article thirteen of the constitution, it be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS proposing amendments to article three of the constitution.

Resolved (if the assembly concur), That sections one, four, five, six, seven and eight of article three of the constitution be amended so as to read as follows:

ARTICLE III.

SECTION 1. The legislative power of the state shall be vested in a senate and assembly.

§ 4. An enumeration of the inhabitants of the state shall be made under the direction of the legislature, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, and in every tenth year thereafter.

§ 5. The assembly shall consist of one hundred and twenty-eight members elected for one year. The members of assembly shall be apportioned among the several counties of the state, by the legislature, as nearly as may be, according to the number of their respective inhabitants, excluding aliens, and shall be chosen by single districts. The assembly districts shall remain as at present organized until after the enumeration of the inhabitants of the state in the year eighteen hundred and seventy-five. The legislature, at its first session after the return of every enumeration, shall apportion the members of assembly among the several counties of the state, in manner aforesaid, and the board of supervisors in such counties as may be entitled under such apportionment to more than one member, except the city and county of New York, and in said city and county the board of aldermen of said city shall assemble at such times as the legislature making such apportionment shall prescribe and divide their respective counties into assembly districts, each of which districts shall consist of convenient and contiguous territory equal to the number of members of assembly to which such counties shall be entitled, and shall cause to be filed in the offices of the secretary of state and the clerks of their respective counties a description of such districts, specifying the number of each district, and the population thereof, according to the last preceding enumeration, as near as can be ascertained, and the apportionment and districts shall remain unaltered until another enumeration shall be made as herein provided. No town shall be divided in the formation of assembly districts. Every county heretofore established and separately organized, except the county of Hamilton, shall always be entitled to one member of the assembly, and no new county shall be hereafter erected unless its population shall entitle it to a member. The county of Hamilton shall elect with the county of Fulton until the population of the county of Hamilton shall, according to the ratio, be entitled to a member. But the legislature may abolish the said county of Hamilton and annex the territory thereof to some other county or counties. Nothing in this section shall prevent division at any time of counties and towns, and the erection of new towns and counties by the legislature.

§ 6. Each member of the legislature shall receive for his service an annual salary of one thousand five hundred dollars. The members of either house shall also receive the sum of one dollar for every ten miles they shall travel in going to and returning from their place of meeting, once in each session, on the most usual route. Senators, when the senate alone is convened in extraordinary session, or when serving as members of the court for the trial of impeachments, and such members of the assembly, not exceeding nine in number, as shall be appointed managers of an impeachment, shall receive an additional allowance of ten dollars a day.

§ 7. No member of the legislature shall receive any civil appointment within this state, or the senate of the United States, from the governor, the governor and senate, or from the legislature, or from any city government, during the time for which he shall have been elected; and all such appointments, and all votes given for any such member for any such office or appointment, shall be void.

§ 8. No person shall be eligible to the legislature who at the time of his election is, or within one hundred days previous thereto has been, a member of congress, a civil or military officer under the United States, or an officer under any city government. And if any person shall, after his election as a member of the legislature, be elected to congress or appointed to any office, civil or military under the government of the United States, or under any city government, his acceptance thereof shall vacate his seat.

And that the following additional sections be added to said article three of the constitution:

§ 17. No act shall be passed which shall provide that any existing law, or any part thereof, shall be made or deemed a part of said act, or which shall enact that any existing law, or any part thereof, shall be applicable, except by inserting it in such act.

§ 18. The legislature shall not pass a private or local bill in any of the following cases:

Changing the names of persons.

Laying out, opening, altering, working or discontinuing roads, highways or alleys, or for draining swamps or other low lands.

Locating or changing county seats.

Providing for changing of venue in civil or criminal cases.

Incorporating villages.

Providing for election of members of boards of supervisors.

Selecting, drawing, summoning or impanneling grand or petit jurors.

Regulating the interest on money.

The opening and conducting of elections or designating places of voting.

Creating, increasing or decreasing fees, percentage or allowance of public officers during the term for which said officers are elected or appointed.

Granting to any corporation, association or individual the right to lay down railroad tracks.

Granting to any private corporation, association or individual any exclusive privilege, immunity or franchise whatever.

Providing for building bridges, and chartering companies for such purposes, except on the Hudson river below Waterford, and on the East river, or over the waters forming a part of the boundaries of the state.

The legislature shall pass general laws providing for the cases enumerated in this section, and for all other cases which in its judgment may be provided for by general laws. But no law shall authorize the construction or operation of a street railroad except upon the condition that the consent of the owners of one-half in value of the property bounded on, and the consent also of the local authorities having the control of that portion of a street or highway upon which it is proposed to construct or operate such railroad be first obtained, or, in case the consent of such property-owners cannot be obtained, the general term of the supreme court in the district in which it is proposed to be constructed may, upon application, appoint three commissioners, who shall determine, after a hearing of all parties interested, whether such railroad ought to be constructed or operated, and their determination, confirmed by the court, may be taken in lieu of the consent of the property owners.

§ 19. The legislature shall neither audit nor allow any private claim or account against the state, but may appropriate money to pay such claims as shall have been audited and allowed according to law.

§ 20. Every law which imposes, continues or revives a tax shall distinctly state the tax and the object to which it is to be applied, and it shall not be sufficient to refer to any other law to fix such tax or object.

§ 21. On the final passage, in either house of the legislature, of any act which imposes, continues or revives a tax, or creates a debt or charge, or makes, continues or revives any appropriation of public or trust money or property, or releases, discharges or commutes any claim or demand of the state, the question shall be taken for yeas and nays, which shall be duly entered upon the journals, and three-fifths of all the members elected to either house shall in all such cases be necessary to constitute a quorum therein.

§ 22. There shall be in the several counties, except in cities whose boundaries are the same as those of the county, a board of supervisors, to be composed of such members and elected in such a manner, and for such period, as is or may be provided by law. In any such cities the duties and powers of a board of supervisors may be devolved upon the common council or board of aldermen thereof.

Section seventeen of said article is hereby made section twenty-three of the proposed amendment, and is amended so as to read as follows:

§ 23. The legislature shall, by general laws, confer upon the boards of supervisors of the several counties of the state such further powers of local legislation and administration as the legislature may from time to time deem expedient.

§ 24. The legislature shall not, nor shall the common council of any city, nor any board of supervisors, grant any extra compensation to any public officer, servant, agent or contractor.

§ 25. Sections seventeen and eighteen of this article shall not apply to any bill or the amendments to any bill which shall be reported to the legislature by commissioners who have been appointed pursuant to law to revise the statutes.

Resolved, (if the assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and that, in conformity to section one of article thirteen of the constitution, it be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS proposing amendments to article five of the constitution.

Resolved, (If the assembly concur.) That article five of the constitution be amended so as to read as follows:

§ 1. The comptroller and secretary of state shall be chosen at the same general election, and for the same term as the governor. The persons holding the offices at the time when this section shall take effect shall continue to hold the same until the first day of January next succeeding the first election of comptroller and secretary of state, pursuant to the provisions hereof, and shall each receive a salary to be fixed by law for such time as they may hold such offices beyond the term for which they shall have been elected.

§ 2. The attorney-general and state engineer and surveyor shall be appointed by the governor, with the consent of the senate, and hold their offices until the end of the term of the governor by whom they shall be nominated, and until their successors are appointed. No person shall be appointed state engineer and surveyor who is not a practical engineer.

§ 3. A superintendent of state prisons shall be appointed by the governor, with the consent of the senate, and hold his office for five years, unless sooner removed; he shall give security in such amount, and with such sureties, as shall be required by law for the faithful discharge of his duties; he shall have the superintendence, management and control of the state prisons, subject to such laws as now exist or may hereafter be enacted; he shall appoint the agents, wardens, physicians and chaplains of the prisons. The agent and warden of each prison shall appoint all other officers of such prison, except the clerk, subject to the approval of the same by the superintendent. The comptroller shall appoint the clerks of the prisons. The superintendent shall have all the powers and perform all the duties not inconsistent herewith, which have heretofore been had and performed by the inspectors of state prisons; and from and after the time when such superintendent of state prisons shall have been appointed and qualified, the office of inspector of state prisons shall be and is hereby abolished. The governor may remove the superintendent for cause at any time, giving to him a copy of the charges against him, and an opportunity to be heard in his defense.

§ 4. The treasurer shall be chosen by the senate and assembly in joint ballot, and hold his office for three years, and until his successor shall be chosen and qualified. He shall, before entering upon the duties of his office, give such security as may be required by law. He may be suspended from office by the governor during the recess of the legislature, and until thirty days after the commencement of the next session of the legislature, whenever it shall appear to him that such treasurer has, in any particular, violated his duty. The governor shall appoint a competent person to discharge the duties of the office during such suspension of the treasurer.

§ 5. The lieutenant governor, comptroller, secretary of state, attorney-general, treasurer and state engineer and surveyor shall be the commissioners of the land office. The office of the commissioner of the canal fund is abolished, and all the powers and duties heretofore had and performed by the commissioners of the canal fund shall hereafter be had or performed by the comptroller. The canal board shall consist of the lieutenant governor, secretary of state, treasurer, attorney-general, state engineer and surveyor, and superintendent of public works.

§ 6. A superintendent of public works shall be appointed by the governor, with the consent of the senate, and to hold his office until the end of the term of the governor by whom he was nominated and until his successor is appointed. He shall receive for his services a compensation to be fixed by law. He shall be required by law to give security for the faithful execution of his office, before entering upon the duties thereof. He shall be charged with the execution of all laws relating to the repair and navigation of the canals; and also of those relating to the construction and improvement of the canals, except so far as the execution of the laws relating to such construction or improvement shall be confided to the state engineer and surveyor. Subject to the control of the legislature, he shall make the rules and regulations for the navigation or use of the canals. He may be suspended or removed from office by the governor, whenever in his judgment the public interest shall so require; but in case of removal of such superintendent of public works from office, the governor shall file with the secretary of state a statement of the cause of such removal, and shall report such removal and the cause thereof, to the legislature at its next session.

§ 7. The superintendent of public works shall appoint not more than three assistant superintendents, whose duties shall be prescribed by him, subject to modification by the legislature, and who shall receive for their services a compensation to be fixed by law. They shall hold their office for three years, subject to suspension or removal by the superintendent of public works, whenever in his judgment the public interest shall so require. Any vacancy in the office of any such assistant superintendent shall be filled, for the remainder of the term for which he was appointed, by the superintendent of public works; but in case of the suspension or removal of any such assistant superintendent by him he shall at once report to the governor, in writing, the cause of such removal. All other persons employed in the care and management of the canals, except collectors of tolls, and those in the department of the state engineer and surveyor, shall be appointed by the superintendent of public works, and be subject to suspension or removal by him.

§ 8. The office of canal commissioner is abolished from and after the appointment and qualification of the superintendent of public works, until which time the canal commissioners shall continue to discharge their duties as now provided by law. The superintendent of public works shall perform all the duties of the canal commissioners, and board of canal commissioners, as now declared by law, until otherwise provided by the legislature.

§ 9. The governor, by and with the consent of the senate, shall have power to fill vacancies, in the offices in this article named except as herein otherwise provided; or, if the senate be not in session, he may grant commissions, which shall expire at the end of the next succeeding session of the senate.

§ 10. The attorney-general, state engineer and surveyor and treasurer, in office at the time this article shall take effect, shall hold their offices until their successors are appointed.

§ 11. The powers and duties of the respective boards, and of the several officers in this article named, shall, except as herein otherwise provided, be such as now are or hereafter may be prescribed by law.

§ 12. All offices for the weighing, gauging, measuring, culling or inspecting any merchandise, produce, manufacture or commodity whatever, are hereby abolished, and no such office shall hereafter be created by law; but nothing in this section contained shall abrogate any office created for the purpose of protecting the public health or the interest of the state in its property, revenue, tolls or purchases, or of supplying the people with correct standards of weights and measures, or shall prevent the creation of any office for such purposes hereafter.

Resolved, (if the assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and that in conformity to section one of article thirteen of the constitution, it be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

STATE OF NEW YORK, In Senate, May 29, 1873.—The foregoing resolutions were duly passed.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS proposing amendments to article four of the constitution.

Resolved, (if the assembly concur), That sections one, two, four, eight and nine of article four of the constitution be amended so as to read as follows:

SECTION 1. The executive power shall be vested in a governor who shall hold his office for three years; a lieutenant-governor shall be chosen at the same time, and for the same term. The governor and lieutenant-governor elected next preceding the time when this section shall take effect, shall hold office during the term for which they were elected.

§ 2. No person shall be eligible to the office of governor or lieutenant-governor, except a citizen of the United States, of the age not less than thirty years, and who shall have been five years, next preceding his election, a resident of this state.

§ 4. The governor shall be commander-in-chief of the military and naval forces of the state. He shall have power to convene the legislature (or the senate only) on extraordinary occasions. At extraordinary sessions no subject shall be acted upon, except such as the governor may recommend for consideration. He shall communicate by message to the legislature at every session the condition of the state, and recommend such matters to them as he shall judge expedient. He shall transact all necessary business with the officers of government, civil and military. He shall expedite all such measures as may be resolved upon by the legislature, and shall take care that the laws are faithfully executed. He shall receive for his services an annual salary of ten thousand dollars, and there shall be provided for his use a suitable and furnished executive residence.

§ 8. The lieutenant-governor shall receive for his services an annual salary of five thousand dollars, and shall not receive or be entitled to any other compensation, fee or perquisite, for any duty and service he may be required to perform by the constitution or by law.

§ 9. Every bill which shall have passed the senate and assembly, shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the governor; if he approve, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it with his objections to the house in which it shall have originated, which shall enter the objections at large on the journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of the members elected to that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent together with the objections to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered; and if approved by two-thirds of the members elected to that house, it shall become a law notwithstanding the objections of the governor. In all such cases, the votes in both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the members voting shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the legislature shall, by their adjournment, prevent its return; in which case it shall not become a law without the approval of the governor. No bill shall become a law after the final adjournment of the legislature unless approved by the governor within thirty days after such adjournment. If any bill presented to the governor contain several items of appropriations of money, he may object to one or more of such items, while approving of the other portion of the bill. In such case, he shall append to the bill, at the time of signing it, a statement of the items to which he objects; and the appropriation so objected to shall not take effect. If the legislature be in session, he shall transmit to the house in which the bill originated a copy of such statement, and the items objected to shall be separately reconsidered. If, on reconsideration, one or more of such items be approved by two-thirds of the members elected to each house, the same shall be part of the law, notwithstanding the objections of the governor. All the provisions of this section, in relation to bills not approved by the governor, shall apply in cases in which he shall withhold his approval from any item or items contained in a bill appropriating money.

Resolved, (if the assembly concur). That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and that, in conformity to section one of article thirteen of the constitution, it be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

To its Natural Vitality and Color.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty.—Thus brashy weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stablished; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

The Daily Freeman.

How a Young Married Man Tried to Kill Himself and Didn't Succeed.

The other day the people in a street of San Francisco heard a pistol report, and saw a young man fall upon the sidewalk. The fallen man had a lighted cigar in one hand and a smoking pistol in the other. He dropped the pistol and continued pulling at the cigar. A bystander asked him who did it, and he replied, "I did it myself! I'm ruined." Some men helped the ruined man to a doctor's office, and three doctors went to work at him prospecting for lead. They found a hole in his breast which did not bleed a drop—it had not even soiled his shirt. An old doctor shook his head and began to cut. The patient was stretched upon a lounge, and between the whiffs of his cigar he remarked occasionally, "That hurts." The ball could not be found. The doctor asked him his name. He said, "Charles P. Stoddard," had a wife and child and lived at 18 Eddy street. The doctor told a boy to run for the wife. The patient, blowing a huge volume of smoke into rings as he spoke, asked the doctor how long he would give him. The doctor said he couldn't tell exactly, but it could not be long. The young man resumed his cigar and said, "All right." Presently a boy came dashing into the office, followed by a woman pale and breathless. She looked at the lounging young man an instant, and asked to see her husband. The patient looked up and said, "That's the wrong woman." She explained that she lived at No. 18 Ellis street. The boy had made a mistake—that was all; but the poor woman was nearly frightened to death. Her husband had just left her to go down town, and the boy had bounced into her house like a bombshell with the report that the husband had shot himself. She had no interest in this young man, and left the doctor's office feeling a thousand per cent. better than she did when she entered it. Medicine's a great thing. The right woman was sent for, and she came and gulped her trouble down like a dose of medicine. A carriage was brought, and the young man and his young wife went home, and he was put speedily to bed. Another doctor was sent for, and while he was coming the women about the house commenced hunting for the ball. One of them found what she supposed to be a lead deposit around near his backbone, in the muscles under the shoulder-blade. The doctor came, and the women said nothing of their discovery. The fresh doctor shook his head and commenced cutting and slashing, and the young man asked him "if it was going to bring on the crisis." The doctor said it was impossible to tell what the result would be; and then the patient got another cigar going, saying, "if he was going to 'peg out,' he would have just one more smoke, anyhow." And the doctor plowed and carved and tunneled after the course of the ball until the breast was pretty well chopped up, and finally bethought himself of turning the subject over. He then found the spot the women had discovered, commenced digging there, and soon struck lead. When the ball was out the smoker asked the doctor about how long he thought it would be before he "made the trip." The doctor gave him the soothing reply that he had relinquished the journey altogether for the present. He could not understand how so many blunders had been made in his case, but hoped he would make no failure himself next time. After binding up the wounds the doctor left, and the patient resigned himself to his hard fate and lighted another cigar. He was altogether the coolest and pleasantest suicide that ever attempted to "make the trip" from California.

STATE OF NEW YORK.—OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE, Albany, July 29, 1873.—To the Sheriff of the County of Ulster, SIR:—Notice is hereby given that, at the General Election to be held in this State on the Tuesday succeeding the first Monday of November next, the following officers are to be elected, to-wit: A Secretary of State, in the place of G. Hilton Scribner; a Comptroller, in the place of Nelson K. Hopkins; a Treasurer, in the place of Thomas Raines; an Attorney-General, in the place of Francis C. Barlow; a State Engineer and Surveyor, in the place of William B. Taylor; a Canal Commissioner, in the place of John D. Fay; an Inspector of State Prisons, in the place of Solomon Scheu; all whose terms of office will expire on the last day of December next. Also, a Justice of the Supreme Court for the Third Judicial District in the place of Peter S. Danforth, whose term of office will expire on the last day of December next. Also, a Senator for the Fourteenth Senate District, comprising the counties of Greene and Ulster.

COUNTY OFFICERS TO BE ELECTED.

Three Members of Assembly; a Sheriff, in the place of John W. Kerr, a County Clerk in the place of Charles W. Deyo; a Superintendent of the Poor, in the place of Benjamin J. Winne; two Justices of Sessions, in the place of John D. Merrihew and Philip Schryver; two Coroners, in the place of Charles Stephan and John Van Nostrand; all whose terms will expire on the last day of December next.

The attention of Inspectors of Election and County Canvassers is directed to Chap. 314 of Laws of 1873, a copy of which is printed herewith, entitled: "An Act to provide for submitting to the electors of this State, at the general election to be held on the Tuesday following the first Monday of November, eighteen hundred and seventy-three, the question whether the offices of Chief Judge and Associate Judge of the Court of Appeals, of Justices of the Supreme Court, of the Judge of the Superior Court of the city of New York, of the Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of the city and county of New York, of the Judge of the Superior Court of Buffalo, of the Judge of the city of Brooklyn, of the County Judge of the several counties of this State, shall be hereafter filled by appointment, pursuant to section seventeen, article six, of the constitution," for instructions in regard to their duties under said act.

CHAP. 314.

AN ACT to provide for submitting to the electors of this State, at the general election to be held on the Tuesday following the first Monday of November, eighteen hundred and seventy-three, the question whether the offices of chief judge and associate judge of the court of appeals, of justices of the supreme court, of the judge of the superior court of the city of New York, of the judge of the court of common pleas of the city and county of New York, of the judge of the superior court of Buffalo, of the judge of the city of Brooklyn, of the county judge of the several counties of this State, shall be hereafter filled by appointment, pursuant to section seventeen, article six, of the constitution.

Passed April 26, 1873; three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The question whether the offices of chief judge and associate judge of the court of appeals, the justices of the supreme court, the judges of the superior court of the city of New York, of the court of common pleas of the city and county of New York, of the superior court of Buffalo, of the city court of Brooklyn, and the county judge of the several counties of this State, shall hereafter be filled by appointment, shall be submitted to the electors of this State, at the general election to be held on the Tuesday succeeding the first Monday of November next, as provided in section seventeen of article six of the constitution of this State, in the manner hereinafter mentioned.

§ 2. The inspectors of election in each election district in the State shall provide two boxes, in which they shall deposit the ballots of the electors upon the question whether the judges and justices of the several courts named in the first section of this act shall hereafter be filled by appointment. One of said boxes shall be labeled "appointment or election of the chief judge and associate judges of the court of appeals and of justices of the supreme court." The other one shall be labeled "appointment or election of judges of city and county courts." Each citizen entitled to vote at such election may vote two ballots, as follows: One of them shall be endorsed "appointment or election of the chief judge and associate judges of the court of appeals, and of the justices of the supreme court," and shall contain on the inside, when folded, the words, "shall the offices of chief judge and associate judge of the court of appeals and of the justices of the supreme court be hereafter filled by appointment—Yes," or the words, "shall the offices of chief judge and associate judge of the court of appeals and of the justices of the supreme court be hereafter filled by appointment—No;" and all such ballots shall be deposited in the boxes labeled "appointment or election of chief judge and associate judges of the court of appeals and justices of the supreme court." The other of said ballots shall be indorsed "appointment or election of judges of city and county courts," and on the inside, when folded, shall contain the words, "shall the offices of the judge of the superior court of the city of New York, of the judge of the court of common pleas of the city and county of New York, of the judge of the superior court of Buffalo, of the judge of the city of Brooklyn, of the county judge of the several counties of this State be hereafter filled by appointment—Yes," or the words, "shall the offices of the judge of the superior court of the city of New York, of the judge of the court of common pleas of the city and county of New York, of the judge of the superior court of Buffalo, of the judge of the city court of Brooklyn, of the county judge of the several counties of this State be hereafter filled by appointment—No." And all such ballots shall be deposited in the box labeled "appointment or election of the judges of the city and county courts."

§ 3. The inspectors of election in each election district, after the closing of the polls of such election, shall count and canvass separately the ballots deposited in each of the said boxes in the manner prescribed by law in reference to other elections, and shall ascertain the whole number of ballots upon each of the questions to be submitted as aforesaid. The inspectors, after having so counted said ballots, shall set down in writing the whole number of such ballots upon each question, and the whole number for and against each of the said questions, and shall certify and make return of the said several votes in the same manner as prescribed by law in reference to other ballots at a general election.

§ 4. The votes so given shall be canvassed by the several boards of county canvassers at the next meeting thereof after such election, and the aggregate results in the several counties shall be canvassed and certified by the board of State canvassers. The existing laws in reference to a general election shall in all respects, so far as applicable, apply to and regulate the proceedings and duties of the said board of county and State canvassers, and of the county clerks and secretary of State. From the statements made to the board of State canvassers it shall determine whether a majority of the votes upon the questions submitted to the electors of the State, as herein provided, be in the affirmative or negative. The said board shall make a certificate of such determination and shall deliver the same to the secretary of State, who shall file the same in his office.

§ 5. If a majority of all the ballots indorsed "Appointment or election of chief judge and associate judges of the court of appeals and of justices of the supreme court" shall be in the affirmative, then the said officers shall not after said election be elective, but, as vacancies occur, they shall be filled by appointment by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, or if the senate be not in session, by the governor; but in such case he shall nominate to the senate when next convened, and such appointment by the governor alone shall expire at the end of that session; but if the majority of said ballots so endorsed be in the negative, then the said officers shall be elective, as heretofore. If a majority of the ballots indorsed "Appointment or election of judges of city and county courts" shall contain on the inside the question as hereinbefore provided, answered in the affirmative, then the officers mentioned in the said question shall not after said election be elective, but as vacancies occur they shall be filled by appointment by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, or if the senate be not in session, by the governor; but in such case he shall nominate to the senate, when next convened, and such appointment by the governor alone shall expire at the end of that session; but if a majority of the ballots so indorsed shall be answered in the negative, then the said officers shall be elected as heretofore.

§ 6. It shall be the duty of the secretary of State to cause the said questions, together with the forms of the ballots as herein specified, to be published in two or more newspapers in each of the counties of this state, the same number of times prior to the said election as is now required by law to be published of the officers to be elected and the offices to be filled at such election; such newspapers to be designated by the Secretary of State in the manner now provided by law for designating newspapers to publish election notices; but no neglect or failure to publish or informality of publication shall impair the validity of such election.

§ 7. It shall be the duty of the secretary of State to include in and cause to be published with the election notices for the said general election, a notice in substance and effect as follows: "Pursuant to section seventeen of article six of the constitution of this State, two questions will be submitted to the electors of this State, to be voted upon separate ballots, as follows: 1st. Shall the offices of chief judge and associate judge of the court of appeals, and of justice of the supreme court be hereafter filled by appointment. 2d, Shall the offices of the judge of the superior court of the city of New York, the court of common pleas of the city and county of New York, the judge of the superior court of Buffalo, the judge of the city court of Brooklyn, and the judge of the county courts of the several counties of this State be hereafter filled by appointment." And at such election each elector will be entitled to vote separately for or against each of said questions, and if a majority of the votes shall be in the affirmative of said questions, then the said judges and justices therein referred to, after said election, as vacancies occur, will be appointed by the governor, as provided by law. No failure or omission to give notice, or any informality in the notice or the giving thereof, shall impair the validity of such notice, or the election herein provided for.

§ 8. This act shall take effect immediately.

Yours Respectfully,
G. HILTON SCRIBNER,
Secretary of State.

ULSTER COUNTY SHERIFF'S OFFICE, KINGSTON, August 4, 1873.

Pursuant to the above notice from the Secretary of State, Notice is hereby given that at the General Election to be held in this State on the Tuesday succeeding the first Monday in November next (November 4th), the following officers are to be elected, to-wit:

A Secretary of State, in the place of G. Hilton Scribner; a Comptroller, in the place of Nelson K. Hopkins; a Treasurer, in the place of Thomas Raines; an Attorney-General, in the place of Francis C. Barlow; a State Engineer and Surveyor, in the place of William B. Taylor; a Canal Commissioner, in the place of John D. Fay; and Inspector of State Prisons, in the place of Solomon Scheu; all whose terms of office will expire on the last day of December next. Also a Justice of the Supreme Court for the Third Judicial District in the place of Peter S. Danforth, whose terms of office will expire on the last day of December next. Also a Senator for the Fourteenth Senate District, comprising the counties of Greene and Ulster.

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN
BLOOD PURIFIER
JURUBEBA
Is the most powerful cleanser, strengthener and remover of Glandular Obstructions known to Materia Medica.
It is specially adapted to constitutions "worn down" and debilitated by the warm weather of Spring and Summer, when the blood is not in active circulation, consequently gathering impurities from sluggishness and imperfect action of the secretive organs, and is manifested by Tumors, Eruptions, Blotches, Boils, Pustules, Scrofula, &c., &c.
When weary and languid from overwork, and dullness, drowsiness and inertia take the place of energy and vigor, the system needs a Tonic to build it up and help the Vital Forces to regain their recuperative power.
In the heat of Summer, frequently the Liver and Spleen do not properly perform their functions; the Uterine and Urinary Organs are inactive, producing weakness of the stomach and intestines and a predisposition to bilious derangement.
DR. WELLS'
EXTRACT OF JURUBEBA
is prepared directly from the SOUTH AMERICAN PLANT, and is peculiarly suited to all these difficulties; it will cleanse the VITIATED BLOOD, strengthen the LIFE-GIVING POWERS, and REMOVE ALL OBSTRUCTIONS from IMPAIRED AND ENFEEBLED Organs.
It should be freely taken, as Jurubeba is pronounced by medical writers the most efficient PURIFIER, TONIC and DEOBSTRUENT known in the whole range of medicinal plants.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS proposing an amendment to article ten of the constitution.

Resolved (if the assembly concur), That article ten of the constitution be amended by adding at the end thereof an additional section as follows:

§ 9. No officer whose salary is fixed by the constitution shall receive any additional compensation.—Each of the other state officers named in the constitution shall, during his continuance in office, receive a compensation, to be fixed by law, which shall not be increased or diminished during the term for which he shall have been elected or appointed; nor shall he receive to his use any fees or perquisites of office or other compensation.

Resolved (if the assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and that in conformity to section one of article thirteen of the constitution, it be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

STATE OF NEW YORK, In Senate, May 21, 1873.—The foregoing resolutions were duly passed.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS proposing amendments to article six of the constitution.

Resolved (if the assembly concur), That section eighteen of article six of the constitution be amended so as to read as follows:

§ 18. The electors of the several towns shall at their annual town meeting, and in such manner as the legislature may direct, elect justices of the peace, whose term of office shall be four years. In case of an election to fill a vacancy occurring before the expiration of a full term, they shall hold for the residue of the unexpired term. Their number and classification may be regulated by law. Justices of the peace and judges or justices of inferior courts, not of record, and their clerks, may be removed after due notice and an opportunity to be heard by such courts as may be prescribed by law for causes to be assigned in the order of removal. Judicial officers of courts, not of record, in the several cities of the state having a population of not less than three hundred thousand, shall be appointed by the governor, with the consent of the senate, for a term of four years, and shall be subject to removal after due notice and an opportunity of being heard by such courts as may be prescribed by law for causes to be assigned in the order of removal. All other judicial officers in cities, whose election is not otherwise provided for in this article, shall be chosen by the electors of cities or appointed by some local authorities thereof.

Resolved (if the assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election for senators, and that in conformity to section one of article thirteen of the constitution, it be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS proposing an amendment to the constitution relative to funding the canal and general fund debts now charged on the canals.

Resolved, (if the assembly concur), That the following amendment to the constitution be proposed for adoption to the people of the state, viz.:

ARTICLE —.

The commissioners of the canal fund shall borrow, on the credit of the state, such sums as may be necessary for paying the canal and general fund debts now charged on the canals, as the same shall fall due, by the issue and sale of bonds, or certificates of stock, having forty years to run from their date, bearing interest at the rate of five per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, for the payment of the principal whereof at maturity a sinking fund of one per cent per annum shall be established, and the tolls of the canals shall be fixed from time to time by the canal board at rates sufficing, as near as may be, to provide only for said sinking fund the interest on the debt so created, the expenses of collection, superintendence and keeping the canals in repair; and the contribution so created for said sinking fund shall be invested annually by the comptroller in the bonds or certificates of stock authorized by this article, or in the stocks or bonds of the state of New York or of the United States, which shall be held for the redemption and payment of the bonds or certificates herein authorized to be issued and sacredly applied to that purpose; all of said debt and interest shall be paid from the revenues of the canals, and no direct tax shall ever be levied or collected for canal purposes, either for current expenses or repairs, ordinary or extraordinary.

Resolved, (if the assembly concur) That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and that in conformity to section one of article thirteen of the constitution it be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

STATE OF NEW YORK, In Senate, May 1, 1873.—The foregoing resolution was duly passed.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION proposing an amendment to article twelve of the constitution.

Resolved, (if the assembly concur), That article twelve of the constitution be amended so as to read as follows:

ARTICLE XII.

§ 1. Members of the legislature (and all officers, executive and judicial, except such inferior officers as shall be by law exempted), shall, before they enter on the duties of their respective offices, take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation; 'I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support the constitution of the United States, and the constitution of the state of New York, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of the office of .... according to the best of my ability," and all such officers who shall have been chosen at any election shall, before they enter upon the duties of their respective offices, take and subscribe the oath or affirmation above prescribed, together with the following addition thereto, as part thereof: "And I do further solemnly swear (or affirm) that I have not directly or indirectly paid offered or promised to pay, contributed or offered or promised to contribute, any money or other valuable thing as a consideration or reward for the giving or withholding of a vote at the election at which I was elected to said office, and have not made any promise to influence the giving or withholding any such vote," and no other oath, declaration or test shall be required as a qualification for any office of public trust.

Resolved, (if the assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and that, in conformity to section one of article thirteen of the constitution, it be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

STATE OF NEW YORK, In Senate, May 21, 1873.—The foregoing resolutions were duly passed.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS proposing an amendment to article eight of the constitution.

Resolved (if the assembly concur), That article eight of the constitution be amended, by amending section four thereof, so as to read as follows:

§ 4. The legislature shall, by general law, conform all charters of savings banks, or institutions for savings, to a uniformity of powers, rights and liabilities, and all charters hereafter granted for such corporations shall be made to conform to such general law, and to such amendments as may be made thereto. And no such corporation shall have any capital stock, or shall be trustees thereof, or any of them have any interest whatever, direct or indirect, in the profits of such corporation; and no director or trustee of any such bank or institution shall be interested in any loan or use of money or property of such bank or institution for savings. The legislature shall have no power to pass any act granting any special charter for banking purposes; but corporations or associations may be formed for such purposes under general laws.

And further, by adding thereto additional sections to be known as sections ten and eleven, as follows:

§ 10. Neither the credit nor the money of the state shall be given or loaned to or in aid of any association, corporation or private undertaking. This section shall not, however, prevent the legislature from making such provision for the education and support of the blind, the deaf and dumb, and juvenile delinquents, as to it may seem proper. Nor shall it apply to any fund of property now held or which may hereafter be held by the state for educational purposes.

§ 11. No county, city, town, or village shall hereafter give any money or property, or loan its money or credit, to or in aid of any individual, association or corporation, or become, directly or indirectly, the owner of stock in or bonds of any association or corporation, nor shall any such county, city, town or village be allowed to incur any indebtedness, except for county, city, town or village purposes. This section shall not prevent such county, city, town or village from making such provision for the aid or support of its poor, as may be authorized by law.

Resolved (if the assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and that, in conformity to section one of article thirteen of the constitution, it be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION proposing an amendment to the constitution by adding additional articles to be as known articles fifteen and sixteen, as follows:

ARTICLE XV.

SECTION 1. Any person holding office under the laws of this state, who, except in payment of his legal salary, fees or perquisites, shall receive or consent to receive, directly or indirectly, anything of value or of personal advantage, or the promise thereof, for performing or omitting to perform any official act, or with the express or implied understanding that his official act or omission to act is to be in any degree influenced thereby, shall be deemed guilty of a felony. This section shall not affect the validity of any existing statutes in relation to the offence of bribery.

§ 2. Any person who shall offer or promise a bribe to an officer, if it shall be received, shall be deemed guilty of a felony and be liable to a punishment, except as herein provided. No person offering a bribe shall, upon any prosecution of the officer for receiving such bribe, be privileged from testifying in relation thereto, and he shall not be liable to civil or criminal prosecution therefor, if he shall testify to the giving or offering of such bribe. Any person who shall offer or promise a bribe, if it be rejected by the officer to whom it is tendered, shall be deemed guilty of an attempt to bribe, which is hereby declared to be a felony.

§ 3. Any person charged with receiving a bribe, or with offering or promising a bribe, shall be permitted to testify in his own behalf in any civil or criminal prosecution therefor.

§ 4. Any district attorney who shall fail faithfully to prosecute a person charged with the violation in his county of any provision of this article which may come to his knowledge, shall be removed from office by the governor, after due notice and an opportunity of being heard in his defence. The expenses which shall be incurred by any county in investigating and proving any charge of bribery, or attempting to bribe any person holding office under the laws of this state, within such county, or of receiving bribes by any such person in said county, shall be a charge against the state, and their payment by the state shall be provided for by law.

ARTICLE XVI.

SECTION 1. All amendments to the constitution shall be in force from and including the first day of January succeeding the election at which the same were adopted, except when otherwise provided by such amendments.

Resolved, (if the assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and that, in conformity to section one of article thirteen of the constitution, it be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

STATE OF NEW YORK, In Senate, May 21, 1873.—The foregoing resolutions were duly passed.
By order,
CHAS. R. DAYTON, Clerk.

STATE OF NEW YORK, In Assembly, May 29, 1873. The foregoing resolutions were duly passed.
By order,
J. O'DONNELL, Clerk.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION proposing an amendment to article seven of the constitution.

Resolved (if the assembly concur), That sections three and six of article seven be amended as follows:

Section three to be amended by adding at the end of the section the following:

No extra compensation shall be made to any contractor; but if from any unforeseen cause, the terms of any contract shall prove to be unjust and oppressive, the canal board may, upon the application of the contractor, cancel such contract.

§ 6. The legislature shall not sell, lease or otherwise dispose of the Erie canal, the Oswego canal, the Champlain canal, the Black River canal, or the Cayuga and Seneca canal; but they shall remain the property of the state and under its management forever. Hereafter the expenditure for collections, superintendence, ordinary and extraordinary repairs on the canals named in this section shall not exceed, in any year, their gross receipts for the previous year. All funds that may be derived from any lease, sale or other disposition of any canal shall be applied in payment of the debt for which the canal revenues are pledged.

That the following be added as sections thirteen and fourteen, in place of sections thirteen and fourteen of this article, which have been transferred and inserted as sections twenty-one and twenty-two of article three.

§ 13. The sinking funds provided for the payment of interest and extinguishment of the principal of the debts of the state, shall be separately kept and safely invested, and neither of them shall be appropriated or used in any manner other than for the specific purpose for which it shall have been provided.

§ 14. Neither the legislature, canal board, canal appraisers, nor any person or persons acting in behalf of the state, shall audit, allow or pay any claim which, as between citizens of the state, would be barred by lapse of time. The limitation of existing claims shall begin to run from the adoption of this section; but this provision shall not be construed to revive claims already barred by existing statutes, nor to repeal any statute fixing the time within which claims shall be presented or allowed, nor shall it extend to any claims duly presented within the time allowed by law, and prosecuted with due diligence from the time of such presentment. But if the claimant shall be under legal disability, the claim may be presented within two years after such disability is removed.

Resolved (if the assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and that in conformity with section one of article thirteen of the constitution, it be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

STATE OF NEW YORK, In Senate, May 21, 1873.—The foregoing resolutions were duly passed.

CHAS. R. DAYTON, Clerk.

STATE OF NEW YORK, In Assembly, May 21, 1873.—The foregoing resolutions were duly passed.
By order,
J. O'DONNELL, Clerk.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS proposing amendments to article two of the constitution.

Resolved, (if the assembly concur), That sections one and two of the constitution be amended so as to read as follows:

§ 1. Every male citizen of the age of twenty-one years who shall have been a citizen for ten days, and an inhabitant of the state one year next preceding any election, and for the last four months a resident of the county, and for the last thirty days a resident of the election district in which he may offer his vote, shall be entitled to vote at such election in the election district of which he shall at the time be a resident, and not elsewhere, for all officers that now are or hereafter may be elective by the people, and upon all questions which may be submitted to a vote of the people, provided that, in time of war, no elector in the actual military service of the state, or of the United States, in the army or navy thereof, shall be deprived of his vote by reason of his absence from any election district; and the legislature shall have power to provide the manner in which and the time and place at which such absent electors may vote, and for the return and canvass of their votes in the election districts in which they respectively reside.

§ 2. No person who shall receive, expect or offer to receive, or pay, offer or promise to pay, contribute, offer or promise to contribute to another, to be paid or used, any money or other valuable thing as a compensation for the giving or withholding a vote at an election, or who shall make any promise to influence the giving or withholding any such vote, or who shall make or become, directly or indirectly, interested in any bet or wager, depending upon the result of any election, shall vote at such election; and upon challenge for such cause, the person so challenged, before the officers authorized for that purpose shall receive his vote, shall swear or affirm before such officers that he has not received or offered, does not expect to receive, has not paid, offered or promised to pay, contributed, offered or promised to contribute to another, to be paid or used, any money or other valuable thing, as a compensation or reward for the giving or withholding a vote at such election, and has not made any promise to influence the giving or withholding of any such vote, nor made or become, directly or indirectly, interested in any bet or wager depending upon the result of such election. The legislature, at the session thereof next after the adoption of this section, shall, and from time to time thereafter may, enact laws excluding from the right of suffrage all persons convicted of bribery or any infamous crime.

Resolved, (if the assembly concur), That the foregoing amendments be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and that in conformity with section one of article thirteen of the constitution, it be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

STATE OF NEW YORK, In Senate, May 21, 1873.—The foregoing resolutions were duly passed.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS proposing amendments to article three of the constitution.

Resolved (if the assembly concur), That sections one, four, five, six, seven and eight of article three of the constitution be amended so as to read as follows:

ARTICLE III.

SECTION 1. The legislative power of the state shall be vested in a senate and assembly.

§ 4. An enumeration of the inhabitants of the state shall be made under the direction of the legislature, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, and in every tenth year thereafter.

§ 5. The assembly shall consist of one hundred and twenty-eight members elected for one year. The members of assembly shall be apportioned among the several counties of the state, by the legislature, as nearly as may be, according to the number of their respective inhabitants, excluding aliens, and shall be chosen by single districts. The assembly districts shall remain as at present organized until after the enumeration of the inhabitants of the state in the year eighteen hundred and seventy-five. The legislature, at its first session after the return of every enumeration, shall apportion the members of assembly among the several counties of the state, in manner aforesaid, and the board of supervisors in such counties as may be entitled under such apportionment to more than one member, except the city and county of New York, and in said city and county the board of aldermen of said city shall assemble at such times as the legislature making such apportionment shall prescribe and divide their respective counties into assembly districts, each of which districts shall consist of convenient and contiguous territory equal to the number of members of assembly to which such counties shall be entitled, and shall cause to be filed in the offices of the secretary of state and the clerks of their respective counties a description of such districts, specifying the number of each district, and the population thereof, according to the last preceding enumeration, as near as can be ascertained, and the apportionment and districts shall remain unaltered until another enumeration shall be made as herein provided. No town shall be divided in the formation of assembly districts. Every county heretofore established and separately organized, except the county of Hamilton, shall always be entitled to one member of the assembly, and no new county shall be hereafter erected unless its population shall entitle it to a member. The county of Hamilton shall elect with the county of Fulton until the population of the county of Hamilton shall, according to the ratio, be entitled to a member. But the legislature may abolish the said county of Hamilton and annex the territory thereof to some other county or counties. Nothing in this section shall prevent division at any time of counties and towns, and the erection of new towns and counties by the legislature.

§ 6. Each member of the legislature shall receive for his service an annual salary of one thousand five hundred dollars. The members of either house shall also receive the sum of one dollar for every ten miles they shall travel in going to and returning from their place of meeting, once in each session, on the most usual route. Senators, when the senate alone is convened in extraordinary session, or when serving as members of the court for the trial of impeachments, and such members of the assembly, not exceeding nine in number, as shall be appointed managers of an impeachment, shall receive an additional allowance of ten dollars a day.

§ 7. No member of the legislature shall receive any civil appointment within this state, or the senate of the United States, from the governor, the governor and senate, or from the legislature, or from any city government, during the time for which he shall have been elected; and all such appointments, and all votes given for any such member for any such office or appointment, shall be void.

§ 8. No person shall be eligible to the legislature who at the time of his election is, or within one hundred days previous thereto has been, a member of congress, a civil or military officer under the United States, or an officer under any city government. And if any person shall, after his election as a member of the legislature, be elected to congress or appointed to any office, civil or military under the government of the United States, or under any city government, his acceptance thereof shall vacate his seat.

And that the following additional sections be added to said article three of the constitution:

§ 17. No act shall be passed which shall provide that any existing law, or any part thereof, shall be made or deemed a part of said act, or which shall enact that any existing law, or any part thereof, shall be applicable, except by inserting it in such act.

§ 18. The legislature shall not pass a private or local bill in any of the following cases:

Changing the names of persons.
Laying out, opening, altering, working or discontinuing roads, highways or alleys, or for draining swamps or other low lands.
Locating or changing county seats.
Providing for changing of venue in civil or criminal cases.
Incorporating villages.
Providing for election of members of boards of supervisors.
Selecting, drawing, summoning or impanneling grand or petit jurors.
Regulating the interest on money.
The opening and conducting of elections or designating places of voting.
Creating, increasing or decreasing fees, percentage or allowance of public officers during the term for which said officers are elected or appointed.
Granting to any corporation, association or individual the right to lay down railroad tracks.
Granting to any private corporation, association or individual any exclusive privilege, immunity or franchise whatever.
Providing for building bridges, and chartering companies for such purposes, except on the Hudson river below Waterford, and on the East river, or over the waters forming a part of the boundaries of the state.

The legislature shall pass general laws providing for the cases enumerated in this section, and for all other cases which in its judgment may be provided for by general laws. But no law shall authorize the construction or operation of a street railroad except upon the condition that the consent of the owners of one-half in value of the property bounded on, and the consent also of the local authorities having the control of that portion of a street or highway upon which it is proposed to construct or operate such railroad be first obtained, or, in case the consent of such property-owners cannot be obtained, the general term of the supreme court in the district in which it is proposed to be constructed may, upon application, appoint three commissioners, who shall determine, after a hearing of all parties interested, whether such railroad ought to be constructed or operated, and their determination, confirmed by the court, may be taken in lieu of the consent of the property owners.

§ 19. The legislature shall neither audit nor allow any private claim or account against the state, but may appropriate money to pay such claims as shall have been audited and allowed according to law.

§ 20. Every law which imposes, continues or revives a tax shall distinctly state the tax and the object to which it is to be applied, and it shall not be sufficient to refer to any other law to fix such tax or object.

§ 21. On the final passage, in either house of the legislature, of any act which imposes, continues or revives a tax, or creates a debt or charge, or makes, continues or revives any appropriation of public or trust money or property, or releases, discharges or commutes any claim or demand of the state, the question shall be taken for yeas and nays, which shall be duly entered upon the journals, and three-fifths of all the members elected to either house shall in all such cases be necessary to constitute a quorum therein.

§ 22. There shall be in the several counties, except in cities whose boundaries are the same as those of the county, a board of supervisors, to be composed of such members and elected in such a manner, and for such period, as is or may be provided by law. In any such cities the duties and powers of a board of supervisors may be devolved upon the common council or board of aldermen thereof.

Section seventeen of said article is hereby made section twenty-three of the proposed amendment, and is amended so as to read as follows:

§ 23. The legislature shall, by general laws, confer upon the boards of supervisors of the several counties of the state such further powers of local legislation and administration as the legislature may from time to time deem expedient.

§ 24. The legislature shall not, nor shall the common council of any city, nor any board of supervisors, grant any extra compensation to any public officer, servant, agent or contractor.

§ 25. Sections seventeen and eighteen of this article shall not apply to any bill or the amendments to any bill which shall be reported to the legislature by commissioners who have been appointed pursuant to law to revise the statutes.

Resolved, (if the assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and that, in conformity to section one of article thirteen of the constitution, it be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

STATE OF NEW YORK, In Senate, May 29, 1873.—The foregoing resolutions were duly passed.
By order,
CHAS. R. DAYTON, Clerk.

STATE OF NEW YORK, In Assembly, May 29, 1873. The foregoing resolutions were duly passed.
By order,
J. O'DONNELL, Clerk.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS proposing amendments to article five of the constitution.

Resolved, (If the assembly concur.) That article five of the constitution be amended so as to read as follows:

§ 1. The comptroller and secretary of state shall be chosen at the same general election, and for the same term as the governor. The persons holding the offices at the time when this section shall take effect shall continue to hold the same until the first day of January next succeeding the first election of comptroller and secretary of state, pursuant to the provisions hereof, and shall each receive a salary to be fixed by law for such time as they may hold such offices beyond the term for which they shall have been elected.

§ 2. The attorney-general and state engineer and surveyor shall be appointed by the governor, with the consent of the senate, and hold their offices until the end of the term of the governor by whom they shall be nominated, and until their successors are appointed. No person shall be appointed state engineer and surveyor who is not a practical engineer.

§ 3. A superintendent of state prisons shall be appointed by the governor, with the consent of the senate, and hold his office for five years, unless sooner removed; he shall give security in such amount, and with such sureties, as shall be required by law for the faithful discharge of his duties; he shall have the superintendence, management and control of the state prisons, subject to such laws as now exist or may hereafter be enacted; he shall appoint the agents, wardens, physicians and chaplains of the prisons. The agent and warden of each prison shall appoint all other officers of such prison, except the clerk, subject to the approval of the same by the superintendent. The comptroller shall appoint the clerks of the prisons. The superintendent shall have all the powers and perform all the duties not inconsistent herewith, which have heretofore been had and performed by the inspectors of state prisons; and from and after the time when such superintendent of state prisons shall have been appointed and qualified, the office of inspector of state prisons shall be and is hereby abolished. The governor may remove the superintendent for cause at any time, giving to him a copy of the charges against him, and an opportunity to be heard in his defense.

§ 4. The treasurer shall be chosen by the senate and assembly in joint ballot, and hold his office for three years, and until his successor shall be chosen and qualified. He shall, before entering upon the duties of his office, give such security as may be required by law. He may be suspended from office by the governor during the recess of the legislature, and until thirty days after the commencement of the next session of the legislature, whenever it shall appear to him that such treasurer, has, in any particular, violated his duty. The governor shall appoint a competent person to discharge the duties of the office during such suspension of the treasurer.

§ 5. The lieutenant governor, comptroller, secretary of state, attorney-general, treasurer and state engineer and surveyor shall be the commissioners of the land office. The office of the commissioner of the canal fund is abolished, and all the powers and duties heretofore had and performed by the commissioners of the canal fund shall hereafter be had or performed by the comptroller. The canal board shall consist of the lieutenant governor, secretary of state, treasurer, attorney-general, state engineer and surveyor, and superintendent of public works.

§ 6. A superintendent of public works shall be appointed by the governor, with the consent of the senate, and to hold his office until the end of the term of the governor by whom he was nominated and until his successor is appointed. He shall receive for his services a compensation to be fixed by law. He shall be required by law to give security for the faithful execution of his office, before entering upon the duties thereof. He shall be charged with the execution of all laws relating to the repair and navigation of the canals; and also of those relating to the construction and improvement of the canals, except so far as the execution of the laws relating to such construction or improvement shall be confided to the state engineer and surveyor. Subject to the control of the legislature, he shall make the rules and regulations for the navigation or use of the canals. He may be suspended or removed from office by the governor, whenever in his judgment the public interest shall so require; but in case of removal of such superintendent of public works from office, the governor shall file with the secretary of state a statement of the cause of such removal, and shall report such removal and the cause thereof, to the legislature at its next session.

§ 7. The superintendent of public works shall appoint not more than three assistant superintendents, whose duties shall be prescribed by him, subject to modification by the legislature, and who shall receive for their services a compensation to be fixed by law. They shall hold their office for three years, subject to suspension or removal by the superintendent of public works, whenever in his judgment the public interest shall so require. Any vacancy in the office of any such assistant superintendent shall be filled, for the remainder of the term for which he was appointed, by the superintendent of public works; but in case of the suspension or removal of any such assistant superintendent by him he shall at once report to the governor, in writing, the cause of such removal. All other persons employed in the care and management of the canals, except collectors of tolls, and those in the department of the state engineer and surveyor, shall be appointed by the superintendent of public works, and be subject to suspension or removal by him.

§ 8. The office of canal commissioner is abolished from and after the appointment and qualification of the superintendent of public works, until which time the canal commissioners shall continue to discharge their duties as now provided by law. The superintendent of public works shall perform all the duties of the canal commissioners, and board of canal commissioners, as now declared by law, until otherwise provided by the legislature.

§ 9. The governor, by and with the consent of the senate, shall have power to fill vacancies, in the offices in this article named except as herein otherwise provided; or, if the senate be not in session, he may grant commissions, which shall expire at the end of the next succeeding session of the senate.

§ 10. The attorney-general, state engineer and surveyor and treasurer, in office at the time this article shall take effect, shall hold their offices until their successors are appointed.

§ 11. The powers and duties of the respective boards, and of the several officers in this article named, shall, except as herein otherwise provided, be such as now are or hereafter may be prescribed by law.

§ 12. All offices for the weighing, gauging, measuring, culling or inspecting any merchandise, produce, manufacture or commodity whatever, are hereby abolished, and no such office shall hereafter be created by law; but nothing in this section contained shall abrogate any office created for the purpose of protecting the public health or the interest of the state in its property, revenue, tolls or purchases, or of supplying the people with correct standards of weights and measures, or shall prevent the creation of any office for such purposes hereafter.

Resolved, (if the assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and that in conformity to section one of article thirteen of the constitution, it be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

STATE OF NEW YORK, In Senate, May 29, 1873.—The foregoing resolutions were duly passed.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS proposing amendments to article four of the constitution.

Resolved, (if the assembly concur), That sections one, two, four, eight and nine of article four of the constitution be amended so as to read as follows:

SECTION 1. The executive power shall be vested in a governor who shall hold his office for three years; a lieutenant-governor shall be chosen at the same time, and for the same term. The governor and lieutenant-governor elected next preceding the time when this section shall take effect, shall hold office during the term for which they were elected.

§ 2. No person shall be eligible to the office of governor or lieutenant-governor, except a citizen of the United States, of the age not less than thirty years, and who shall have been five years, next preceding his election, a resident of this state.

§ 4. The governor shall be commander-in-chief of the military and naval forces of the state. He shall have power to convene the legislature (or the senate only) on extraordinary occasions. At extraordinary sessions no subject shall be acted upon, except such as the governor may recommend for consideration. He shall communicate by message to the legislature at every session the condition of the state, and recommend such matters to them as he shall judge expedient. He shall transact all necessary business with the officers of government, civil and military. He shall expedite all such measures as may be resolved upon by the legislature, and shall take care that the laws are faithfully executed. He shall receive for his services an annual salary of ten thousand dollars, and there shall be provided for his use a suitable and furnished executive residence.

§ 8. The lieutenant-governor shall receive for his services an annual salary of five thousand dollars, and shall not receive or be entitled to any other compensation, fee or perquisite, for any duty and service he may be required to perform by the constitution or by law.

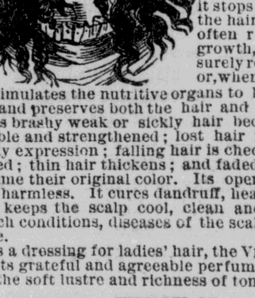

§ 9. Every bill which shall have passed the senate and assembly, shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the governor; if he approve, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it with his objections to the house in which it shall have originated, which shall enter the objections at large on the journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of the members elected to that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent together with the objections to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered; and if approved by two-thirds of the members elected to that house, it shall become a law notwithstanding the objections of the governor. In all such cases, the votes in both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the members voting shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the legislature shall, by their adjournment, prevent its return; in which case it shall not become a law without the approval of the governor. No bill shall become a law after the final adjournment of the legislature unless approved by the governor within thirty days after such adjournment. If any bill presented to the governor contain several items of appropriations of money, he may object to one or more of such items, while approving of the other portion of the bill. In such case, he shall append to the bill, at the time of signing it, a statement of the items to which he objects; and the appropriation so objected to shall not take effect. If the legislature be in session, he shall transmit to the house in which the bill originated a copy of such statement, and the items objected to shall be separately reconsidered. If, on reconsideration, one or more of such items be approved by two-thirds of the members elected to each house, the same shall be part of the law, notwithstanding the objections of the governor. All the provisions of this section, in relation to bills not approved by the governor, shall apply in cases in which he shall withhold his approval from any item or items contained in a bill appropriating money.

Resolved, (if the assembly concur). That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and that, in conformity to section one of article thirteen of the constitution, it be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR,
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
To its Natural Vitality and Color.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.
AYER'S HAIR VIGOR by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty.—Thus brashy weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stablished; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.
As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.
